Routledge Handbook of Cartographic Humanities Tania Rossetto, Laura Lo Presti, 2024-06-03 The Routledge Handbook of Cartographic Humanities offers a vibrant exploration of the intersection and convergence between map studies and the humanities through the multifaceted traditions and inclinations from different disciplinary, geographical and cultural contexts. With 42 chapters from leading scholars, this book provides an intellectual infrastructure to navigate core theories, critical concepts, phenomenologies and ecologies of mapping while also providing insights into exciting new directions for future scholarship. It is organised into seven parts. Part 1 moves from the depths of the human map's relation to the posthuman dimension from antiquity to the future of humanity, presenting a multidisciplinary perspective that bridges chronological distances, introspective instances and social engagements. Part 2 draws on ancient archaeological, historical and literary sources to consider the materialities and textures embedded in such texts. Fictional and non-fictional cartographies are explored, including layers of time, mobile historical phenomena, unmappable terrain features and even animal perspectives. Part 3 examines maps and mappings from a medial perspective, offering theoretical insight into cartographic mediality as well as studies of its intermedial relations with other media. Part 4 explores how a cultural cartographic perspective can be productive in researching the digital as a human experience, considering the development of a cultural attentiveness to a wide range of map-related phenomena that interweave human subjectivities and nonhuman entities in a digital ecology. Part 5 addresses a range of issues and urgencies that have been and still are at the centre of critical cartographic thinking, from politics, inequalities and discrimination. Part 6 considers the growing amount of literature and creative experimentation that involve mapping in practices of eliciting individual life histories, collective identities and self-accounts. Part 7 examines the variety of ways in which we can think of maps in the public realm. This innovative and expansive Handbook will appeal to those in the fields of geography, art, philosophy, media and visual studies, anthropology, history, digital humanities and cultural studies, as well as industry professionals.    Manual do agente recenseador, 2009    The Hip Resurfacing Handbook K De Smet, P. Demyelinating diseases are characterized by an extensive loss of oligodendrocytes and myelin sheaths from axolemma which commonly result in disability in young adults To date there is no effective treatment against these neurological disorders In the adult brain there are neural stem cells NSCs that reside within a niche denominated ventricular subventricular zone V SVZ in the lateral wall of the cerebral ventricles NSCs give rise to neurons and oligodendrocytes that help preserve cellular homeostasis Growing evidence indicates that V SVZ progenitor cells may represent an endogenous source of oligodendrocytes that can be useful to treat demyelinating diseases This e Book The ventricular subventricular zone as a source of oligodendrocytes in the adult brain collected the most recent evidence regarding the mechanisms that modulate the proliferation migration quiescence cell fate choices and survival of oligodendrocyte precursors generated in the V SVZ Herein we compiled information about the role of Sonic hedgehog NMDA receptors ErbB proteins hemopressin erythropoietin osmolarity and microglia in the oligodendrocyte production Some chapters also describe the role of oligodendrocyte precursors in the preservation of cellular homeostasis aging and white matter repair All these information is presented as novel research findings short communications and review articles which were written by experts in the field of oligodendrocyte generation myelin production and white matter re myelination
