INSTRUCTIONS

Where to Start

First fill in the information requested on the upper portion of this page. Then read and answer all of the questions on the following pages by circling Yes or No.

Some of the questions refer to boys and some refer to girls. Please answer all of the questions regardless of whether your child is a boy or a girl.

Where to Stop

Please answer every item on each scale even if it asks about skills or behaviors typical of a child much older or younger than your child.

Scoring Tips

Most of the questions ask whether your child does perform a task. To score Yes, your child must not only be able to perform the task, he or she must actually perform it some of the time. However, a few of the questions ask whether your child can perform a task. For these questions, a Yes means that your child has shown at least once that he or she is able to perform the task.

Some questions ask about skills or behaviors that your child mastered long ago and does not do anymore. For example, "Does your child babble or use other sounds that seem to be attempts to talk?" Your child may have babbled for a while but then moved on to more advanced forms of speech. You would answer No to this question because babbling is a behavior that your child performed successfully in the past.

If you are not sure whether to answer Yes or No to a question, please make your best guess.
