Alr And Community Planning Guidelines

Robert R. Wright, Morton Gitelman

Alr And Community Planning Guidelines:

ALR & Community Planning Guidelines, 2003 These guidelines are written for local British Columbia governments that are preparing official plans under the Local Government Act that involve land in the provincial Agricultural Land Reserve ALR The document first reviews the legislative policy framework related to agricultural land and local government planning then explains the roles responsibilities of the Agricultural Land Commission and the provincial local governments Guidelines are set out to assist in drafting plan by law provisions regulating the use of activities on lands in the ALR Topics covered include permitted uses minimum parcel sizes designations of land for agriculture development permit areas delegated powers plan review and plan monitoring auditing Appendices include policy guidelines and information on how to implement a development permit area to protect farmland

Being Realistic About Urban Growth Christopher Leo, 2005 Authors Christopher Leo is Professor of Politics at Katie Anderson is a recent graduate of the University of Winnipeg and Adjunct the University of Winnipeg and an em Professor of City Planning at the Univer ployee of the Institute of Urban Studies sity of Manitoba This is achieved by taking advantage of the fact that a bur geoning economy and a favourable loca 2 3 Land use tion produce an intense demand for de It is density that is at the heart of Vancou velopment and put developers in the ver s success in managing its infrastruc mood to accept strict conditions if neces ture and services and density is a matter sary in return for a cut of the pro Slow sprawling growth carries a heavy price tag for Winnipeg and the most read A good share of this deterioration stems ily quantifiable part of what amounts to a from the willingness indeed the determi structural deficit is the deterioration of nation to spread the city so thinly as to older infrastructure The wish for growth defeats rational sult of urban development in municipali planning becomes the source of ill con ties near Winnipeg and the other seems sidered policy and undermines first the to have been the product of wishful think city s collective self confidence and ulti ing about growth Class and ur economy and the power of the local state ban social expenditure a Marxist theory the politics of planning in Edmonton and of metropolitan government

Agricultural Land Use and Natural Gas Extraction Conflicts Madeline Taylor, Tina Hunter, 2018-11-02 Onshore unconventional gas operations in most jurisdictions operate on the legal principle that all activities during exploration and extraction are temporary in nature The concept that the onshore unconventional gas industry has a temporary effect on the land on which it operates creates a regulatory paradox On one hand unconventional gas activities create energy security national wealth and a burgeoning export industry On the other agricultural land and agriculturalists may be significantly disadvantaged by unconventional gas activities potentially producing permanent damage to non renewable fertile soils and spoiling the underground water tables Thus threatening future food security and food sovereignty This book explores the socio regulatory dimensions of coexistence between agricultural and onshore unconventional gas land uses in the jurisdictions with the highest concentration of proven unconventional gas reserves Australia Canada the USA the UK France Poland and China In exploring the differing regulatory standpoints of unconventional gas land uses on productive farming land in the chosen jurisdictions this book provides an original three part categorisation of regulatory approaches addressing the coexistence of agricultural land and unconventional gas namely adaptive management precautionary and finally statism It offers a timely and topical approach to socio legal natural resource governance theory based on the participation transparency and empowerment for agricultural landholders examining how differing frameworks such as the collective bargaining framework can create equitable and sustainable contractual arrangements with unconventional gas companies

Farmland Preservation Wayne J. Caldwell, Stew Hilts, Bronwynne Wilton, 2017-03-22 As land is lost to urban sprawl and other non farm activity our ability to produce food is diminished and options for future food production are limited Farmland preservation speaks to the need to preserve the agricultural land base for future generations The need for protection is driven by uncertainty caused by climate change population growth food security energy availability and other local and global factors This uncertainty means that there is an ever growing responsibility to ensure that the actions of today do not compromise the needs of future generations This second edition of Farmland Preservation provides a range of views and case studies from across Canada the United States and beyond Its fourteen essays are intended to help the reader understand the importance of the issue and the potential for applying new approaches to agricultural protection policy tools and initiatives
