Inside Lawyers' Ethics Christine Parker,Adrian Evans,2007-02-22 Legal ethics is often described as an oxymoron or contradiction in terms lay people find the concept amusing and lawyers can find ethics impossible The best lawyers are those who have come to grips with their own values and actively seek to improve their ethical practise This book is designed to help law students and new lawyers understand and modify their own ethical priorities not just because this knowledge makes it easier to practise law and earn an income but because self aware ethical legal practice is right and feels better than anything else Packed with case studies of ethical scandals and dilemmas from real life legal practice in Australia each chapter delves into the most difficult issues lawyers face From lawyers part in corporate fraud to the ethics of time based billing Parker and Evans expose the values that underlie current practice and set out the alternatives ethical lawyers might follow Target Isotope Pete Hancock,2012-09-03 A story of conspiracy to hide the truth about secret shipments of radioactive material from Australia to fuel the new generation nuclear reactors being planned for China s energy future Pete Hancock

stasis and a fearful hanging on In Gangland Mark Davis analyses the dated ideals and assumptions of Australia s cultural establishment and their near monopoly on cultural debate Who are these people What do they do How is their influence affecting public forums and the media Where does that leave the young people of today Davis s irreverent prose cuts across the moral panics and anxieties that characterise Australian culture to detect a deep seated fear of change a fear that is often expressed as hostility towards youth Gangland names names and maps networks laying bare the discrepancies between reality and the images peddled by some of Australia s most popular thinkers questioning the ideas that have characterised Australia in the nineties Deserves to become a manifesto for a disenfranchised generation Australian Financial Review Finally somebody on the side of late teens and twentysomethings in Australia a brilliant argument of a book Adrian Smart Cream Gangland has sparked a valuable debate one which I ve been looking forward to for years Kathy Bail Australian Book Review

The Five Walking Sticks Henry R. Lew,2000 The Five Walking Sticks describes the life of Maurice Brodzky a man who was very well known in Melbourne from 1885 to 1903 His story is most unusual and certainly more fascinating than many others that relate to the rich and famous and the reader certainly does not miss out on the rich and famous by travelling through the pages of Maurice s life But The Five Walking Sticks is much more than the life of a solitary human being It is a course of study a curriculum of history anthropology and civilisation which physically takes you into one of the most astonishing places on earth the city that the British journalist George Augustus Sala dubbed marvellous Melbourne in 1885 That we know so little of Maurice today is because rich and powerful opponents helped sanitise Melbourne s history of him and later day historians continued their omission Michael Cannon in The Land Boomers was the first exception Indeed Cannon went so far as to describe Brodzky s muckraking exposes of the land boom and bust period as a record of individual public service which it is safe to say has never been surpassed anywhere in the world The world is fortunate that sufficient information has survived to make a comprehensive book possible

Offshore Madeline Gleeson,2016-05-01 What has happened on Nauru and Manus since Australia began its most recent offshore processing regime in 2012 This essential book provides a comprehensive and uncompromising overview of the first three years of offshore processing since it recommenced in 2012 It explains why offshore processing was re established what life is like for asylum seekers and refugees on Nauru and Manus what asylum seekers refugees and staff in the offshore detention centres have to say about what goes on there and why the truth has been so hard to find In doing so it goes behind the rumours and allegations to reveal what is known and what still is not known about Australia s offshore detention centres

The Content Makers Margaret Simons,2007-09-03 In The Content Makers Margaret Simons explains the changes taking place in the Australian media She analyses audiences our major media organisations the role of government and the implications of all of these for our society and our democracy Her examination leads her to the conclusion that the challenges facing the content providers in the modern world are part of a broader striving a very old struggle we might call it the search for meaning The big media businesses may or may not survive into the future but content certainly will because we need it and have always needed it The Content Makers delivers a visceral understanding of how modern media works gives a plain language explanation of new media and provides straightforward information on recent changes to ownership legislation and what they mean But most importantly it suggests a vision for the future a new way of looking at the role of the content makers and how they and their audiences might find new hope and purpose in the future The Way We Live Now Robert Manne,1998 Australia has undergone profound change in the 90s The way we live and think has been influenced by recession by the theories of economic rationalism by the fall of Keating and the rise of Howard by debates about race the republic the Holocaust censorship and euthanasia In The Way We Live Now Robert Manne charts his response to issues which will critically define the kind of country we will inhabit in the twenty first century Looking at Television News John Henningham,1988 Audit Report ,1997 Australian Journalism Review ,1999 Women of Power Gael Knepper,1990 Jeff Tony Parkinson,2000 People really like me or they loathe me for a long time I couldn t understand why that was but I have come to realise that I m the sort of person who comes on so strong with people that they are either repelled or attracted Jeff Kennett Parliamentary Debates (Hansard).
