

Introduction to Java Servlets

Servlets are the Java programs that run on the Java-enabled web server or application server. They are used to handle the request obtained from the webserver, process the request, produce the response, then send a response back to the webserver.

Properties of Servlets are as follows:

- Servlets work on the server-side.
- Servlets are capable of handling complex requests obtained from the webserver.

Servlet Architecture is can be depicted from the image itself as provided below as follows:

Execution of Servlets basically involves six basic steps:

1. The clients send the request to the webserver.
2. The web server receives the request.
3. The web server passes the request to the corresponding servlet.
4. The servlet processes the request and generates the response in the form of output.
5. The servlet sends the response back to the webserver.
6. The web server sends the response back to the client and the client browser displays it on the screen.

Now let us do discuss eccentric point that why do we need For Server-Side extensions?

The server-side extensions are nothing but the technologies that are used to create dynamic Web pages. Actually, to provide the facility of dynamic Web pages, Web pages need a container or Web server. To meet this requirement, independent Web server providers offer some proprietary solutions in the form of APIs(Application Programming Interface).

These APIs allow us to build programs that can run with a Web server. In this case, Java Servlet is also one of the component APIs of Java Platform Enterprise Edition which sets standards for creating dynamic Web applications in Java.

The Servlet technology is similar to other Web server extensions such as Common Gateway Interface(CGI) scripts and Hypertext Preprocessor (PHP). However, Java Servlets are more acceptable since they solve the limitations of CGI such as low performance and low degree scalability.

What is CGI?

CGI is actually an external application that is written by using any of the programming languages like C or C++ and this is responsible for processing client requests and generating dynamic content.

In CGI application, when a client makes a request to access dynamic Web pages, the Web server performs the following operations :

- It first locates the requested web page i.e the required CGI application using URL.
- It then creates a new process to service the client's request.
- Invokes the CGI application within the process and passes the request information to the application.
- Collects the response from the CGI application.
