Math Education for America? Mark Wolfmeyer, 2013-12-04 Math Education for America analyzes math education policy through the social network of individuals and private and public organizations that influence it in the United States The effort to standardize a national mathematics curriculum for public schools in the U S culminated in 2010 when over 40 states adopted the Common Core State Standards for Mathematics Rather than looking at the text of specific policy documents this book complements existing critical reviews of the national math education curriculum by employing a unique social network analysis Breaking new ground in detailing and theorizing the politics of math education Wolfmeyer argues that the private interests of this network are closely tied to a web of interrelated developments human capital education policy debates over traditional and reform pedagogy the assumed content knowledge deficit of math teachers and the proliferation of profit driven educational businesses By establishing the interconnectedness of these interests with the national math education curriculum he shows how the purported goals of math education reform are aligned with the prevailing political agendas of this social network rather than the national interest

Opting Out David Hursh, Jeanette Deutermann, Lisa Rudley, Zhe Chen, Sarah McGinnis, 2020-01-22 A 2020 AESA Critics Choice Book Award winner The rise of high stakes testing in New York and across the nation has narrowed and simplified what is taught while becoming central to the effort to privatize public schools However it and similar reform efforts have met resistance with New York as the exemplar for how to repel standardized testing and invasive data collection such as inBloom In New York the two parent teacher organizations that have been most effective are Long Island Opt Out and New York State Allies for Public Education Over the last four years they and other groups have focused on having parents refuse to submit their children to the testing regime arguing that if students don't take the tests the results aren't usable The opt out movement has been so successful that 20% of students statewide and 50% of students on Long Island refused to take tests In Opting Out two parent leaders of the opt out movement Jeanette Deutermann and Lisa Rudley tell why and how they became activists in the two organizations The story of parents students and teachers resisting not only high stakes testing but also privatization and other corporate reforms parallels the rise of teachers across the country going on strike to demand increases in school funding and teacher salaries Both the success of the opt out movement and teacher strikes reflect the rise of grassroots organizing using social media to influence policy makers at the local state and national levels Perfect for courses such as The Politics Of Education Education Policy Education Reform Community Organizing Education Evaluation Education Reform
