

An APA Research Paper Model

Thomas Delancy and Adam Solberg wrote the following research paper for a psychology class. As you review their paper, read the side notes and examine the following:

- The use and documentation of their numerous sources.
- The background they provide before getting into their own study results.
- The scientific language used when reporting their results.

Center the title one inch from the top. Double-space throughout.

The introduction states the topic and the main questions to be explored.

The researchers supply background information by discussing past research on the topic.

Extensive referencing establishes support for the discussion.

Running on Empty: The Effects of Food Deprivation on Concentration and Perseverance

Many things interrupt people's ability to focus on a task: distractions, headaches, noisy environments, and even psychological disorders. To some extent, people can control the environmental factors that make it difficult to focus. However, what about internal factors, such as an empty stomach? Can people increase their ability to focus simply by eating regularly?

One theory that prompted research on how food intake affects the average person was the glucostatic theory. Several researchers in the 1940s and 1950s suggested that the brain regulates food intake in order to maintain a blood-glucose set point. The idea was that people become hungry when their blood-glucose levels drop significantly below their set point and that they become satisfied after eating, when their blood-glucose levels return to that set point. This theory seemed logical because glucose is the brain's primary fuel (Pinel, 2000). The earliest investigation of the general effects of food deprivation found that long-term food deprivation (36 hours and longer) was associated with sluggishness, depression, irritability, reduced heart rate, and inability to concentrate (Keys, Brozek, Henschel, Mickelsen, & Taylor, 1950). Another study found that fasting for several days produced muscular weakness, irritability, and apathy or depression (Kollar, Slater, Palmer, Dozier, & Mandell, 1964). Since that time, research has focused mainly on how nutrition affects cognition. However, as Green, Elliman, and Rogers (1995) point out, the effects of food deprivation on cognition have received comparatively less attention in recent years.

The Scott, Foresman Handbook for Writers Maxine Hairston, John J. Ruszkiewicz, Christy Friend, 2002 The Scott Foresman Handbook for Writers 6e continues its tradition of innovation with ground breaking coverage of grading service learning document design and research. Already the most imitated book in its field SFH 6e becomes the first handbook to offer a full chapter on Evaluating Writing covering both traditional and portfolio systems of grading. The new chapter answers many of the questions about grading principles criteria and procedures that instructors face every term. There's more too in this edition about the kinds of writing more and more college writers are doing in their professional and civic lives or in service learning courses. Already a leader in technology SFH now expands its first ever treatment of document design into a fully illustrated section that explains document design as a process like writing itself. There is a thorough new chapter with full coverage of Writing for the Web and a portfolio chapter of four color model documents. Coverage of research continues to set the standard for college projects with new material on designing research projects, evaluating sources and working with online materials. Helpful online materials to enhance their thinking and research. But the edition has not neglected more traditional elements of writing. Every chapter has been reworked to enhance clarity and to polish the notably friendly style of SFH. No handbook addresses writers more cordially or helpfully. A new cleaner design makes all materials more accessible and frequent photos and images make the entire package more student friendly.
