During the time period from the 13th century to 1405 the Mongols dominated a great majority of Asia. The Mongols had a unique way of life and different traditions that China and the Russia didn't. This caused the Mongols to have certain political, economic, and social ideas that were different from both China and Russia. However, there were many similarities between the Mongols and Russia and China during this time period because they lived so closely together with human interaction and weren't isolated from everyone else.

The Mongols had significant political and economic impact on both Russia and China during their rule, but China was more widely affected, being ruled directly by Mongols, whereas Russia was largely left to its own devices under independent principalities and felt Mongol influence largely via taxes. The reintroduction of the Silk Road was a major boost for the economy of both China and Russia. For Russia in some cases it helped them gain more money than what they were paying in tribute to the Golden Horde. They made profits, increased prosperity, and it helped boost their economy.

China gained from the Silk Road cause trade increased again. The Mongol Empire acted as a bridge between civilizations. Trade wasn't the only thing exchanged either. Cultural ideas and religion as well as science, medicine, technology and arts were introduced as well. The way the Mongols ruled the Russians was extremely different from the way the Chinese were ruled. At the time when Russia was conquered their capital city of Kiev was in a gradual decline for a long period of time. As a result they were easy to control and manipulate with the Golden Horde.

However, some people assume that the Golden Horde ran the Russian government, which they didn't. The Golden Horde just invaded and conquered them. As a result, the Mongols take this as an opportunity to tax them and make the Russians pay tribute as a way of "thanks" (you just conquered me). Also, as a result of being conquered the capital of Kiev is destroyed and Moscow begins to rise. The Mongol rule effected Russia mostly because of the Christian separation from Western Europe and the Renaissance. This was a major turning point for Russian history. The Chinese were ruled more by Kublai Khan himself than Russia was.

During this time period in China although the imperial structure remained the same, the gender roles in their society began to change. As a result, Chabi, the wife of Kublai Khan was one of his most important advisors of political matters. One policy that Kublai was against was that he refused to bring back civil service examinations because he didn't want to give power to the scholars. A difference between the way Russia was run and China was run was that China had astute and tolerant rulers. The Mongols were very tolerant towards both the Chin
