Partners in Science Robert E. Kohler, 2020-02-22 Robert Kohler shows exactly how entrepreneurial academic scientists became intimate partners in science with the officers of the large foundations created by John D Rockefeller and Andrew Carnegie and in so doing tells a fascinating story of how the modern system of grant getting and grant giving evolved and how this funding process has changed the way laboratory scientists make their careers and do their work This book is a rich historical tapestry of people institutions and scientific ideas It will stand for a long time as a source of precise and detailed information about an important aspect of the scientific enterprise It also contains many valuable lessons for the coming years John Ziman Times Higher Education Supplement     Measurement, Judgment, and Decision Making Michael H.

Birnbaum, 1997-11-27 Measurement Judgment and Decision Making provides an excellent introduction to measurement which is one of the most basic issues of the science of psychology and the key to science Written by leading researchers the book covers measurement psychophysical scaling multidimensional scaling stimulus categorization and behavioral decision making Each chapter provides a useful handbook summary and unlocks the door for a scholar who desires entry to that field Any psychologist who manipulates an independent variable that affects a psychological construct or who uses a numerical dependent variable to measure a psychological construct will want to study this book Written by leading researchers in fields of measurement psychophysical scaling multidimensional scaling stimulus categorization and behavioral decision making Provides basic definitions and summaries of theories Presents summaries and citations to relevant literature Contains new developments current controversies and open questions Explains relationships among fields and historical links

Cultivating Development David Mosse, 2004-11-20 What if development agencies and researchers are not driven by policy Suppose that the things that make for good policy policy that legitimises and mobilises political support in reality make it impossible to implement By focusing in detail on the unfolding activities of a development project in western India over more than ten years as it falls under different policy regimes this book takes a close look at the relationship between policy and practice in development David Mosse shows how the actions of development workers are shaped by the exigencies of organisations and the need to maintain relationships rather than by policy but also that development actors work hardest of all to maintain coherent representations of their actions as instances of authorised policy Raising unfamiliar questions Mosse provides a rare self critical reflection on practice while refusing to endorse current post modern dismissal of development
