Metrics Vincanne Adams, 2016-03-05 This volume's contributors evaluate the accomplishments, limits, and consequences of using quantitative metrics in global health. Whether analyzing maternal mortality rates, the relationships between political goals and metrics data, or the links between health outcomes and a program's fiscal support, the contributors question the ability of metrics to solve global health problems. They capture a moment when global health scholars and practitioners must evaluate the potential effectiveness and pitfalls of different metrics, even as they remain elusive and problematic. Contributors: Vincanne Adams, Susan Erikson, Molly Hales, Pierre Minn, Adeola Oni, Orisan Carolyn Smith, Morris Marlee, Tichenor Lily, Walkover, Claire L. Wendland. Narrating the Sex Trade Tracie L. Wilson, 2025-09-30 Examining a range of sex trade accounts from state documents, activist groups, folk narratives, and key figures in Polish, Ukrainian, and Yiddish literature, this book applies new materialist perspectives to cultural history, coloniality, and imperialism in the study of Europe's eastern borderlands. The text centers on late nineteenth and early twentieth-century contexts with eastern Galicia and Lviv as its focal point. However, these narratives flow across time and space, stretching back to the early modern period and continuing to the present across cities in the Americas, in Asia, and along the Mediterranean Sea. The book addresses the convergence of sex trade stories with older narratives, including links to early modern abduction accounts and antisemitic tropes. It also examines the involvement of prominent activists whose personal lives contributed to modern research in psychology and sexuality, such as Bertha Pappenheim, Anna O, and Karl M. Baer. Its groundbreaking approach, unsettling notions of center and periphery, is relevant to the study of a myriad of geographic contexts worldwide and to both historical analysis and present-day situations. This volume is intended for undergraduates, postgraduates, specialists, and general readers interested in east-central Europe, gender, coloniality, imperialism, migration, technology, and modernity narrative and literary studies, and new materialist approaches. Rendering Nature Marguerite S. Shaffer, Phoebe S. K. Young, 2015-07-02 We exist at a moment during which the entangled challenges facing the human and natural worlds confront us at every turn, whether at the most basic level of survival, health, sustenance, shelter, or in relation to our comfort-driven desires. As demand for resources, both necessary and unnecessary, increases, understanding how nature and culture are interconnected matters more than ever. Bridging the fields of environmental history and American studies, Rendering Nature examines the surprising interconnections between nature and culture in distinct places, times, and contexts over the course of American history. Divided into four themes: animals, bodies, places, and politics, the essays span a diverse array of locations and periods, from antebellum slave society to atomic testing sites, from gorillas in Central Africa to river runners in the Grand Canyon, from white sun-tanning enthusiasts to Japanese American incarceratedees, from taxidermists at the 1893 World's Fair to tents on Wall Street in 2011. Together, they offer new perspectives and conceptual tools that can help us better understand the historical realities and current paradoxes of our environmental predicament. Contributors: Thomas G. Andrews, Connie Y. Chiang.
