Sports-Related Concussions in Youth National Research Council, Institute of Medicine, Board on Children, Youth, and Families, Committee on Sports-Related Concussions in

Youth,2014-02-04 In the past decade few subjects at the intersection of medicine and sports have generated as much public interest as sports related concussions especially among youth Despite growing awareness of sports related concussions and campaigns to educate athletes coaches physicians and parents of young athletes about concussion recognition and management confusion and controversy persist in many areas Currently diagnosis is based primarily on the symptoms reported by the individual rather than on objective diagnostic markers and there is little empirical evidence for the optimal degree and duration of physical rest needed to promote recovery or the best timing and approach for returning to full physical activity Sports Related Concussions in Youth Improving the Science Changing the Culture reviews the science of sports related concussions in youth from elementary school through young adulthood as well as in military personnel and their dependents This report recommends actions that can be taken by a range of audiences including research funding agencies legislatures state and school superintendents and athletic directors military organizations and equipment manufacturers as well as youth who participate in sports and their parents to improve what is known about concussions and to reduce their occurrence Sports Related Concussions in Youth finds that while some studies provide useful information much remains unknown about the extent of concussions in youth how to diagnose manage and prevent concussions and the short and long term consequences of concussions as well as repetitive head impacts that do not result in concussion symptoms The culture of sports negatively influences athletes self reporting of concussion symptoms and their adherence to return to play guidance Athletes their teammates and in some cases coaches and parents may not fully appreciate the health threats posed by concussions Similarly military recruits are immersed in a culture that includes devotion to duty and service before self and the critical nature of concussions may often go unheeded According to Sports Related Concussions in Youth if the youth sports community can adopt the belief that concussions are serious injuries and emphasize care for players with concussions until they are fully recovered then the culture in which these athletes perform and compete will become much safer Improving understanding of the extent causes effects and prevention of sports related concussions is vitally important for the health and well being of youth athletes The findings and recommendations in this report set a direction for research to reach this goal

Doping in Sport and the Law Ulrich Haas,Deborah Healey,2016-09-22 This unique international legal and cross disciplinary edited volume contains analysis of the legal impact of doping regulation by eminent and well known experts in the legal fields of sports doping regulation and diverse legal fields which are intrinsically important areas for consideration in the sports doping landscape These are thoughtful extended reflections by experts on theory and policy and how they interact with law in the context of doping in sport It is the first book to examine the topical and contentious area of sports doping from a variety of different but very relevant legal perspectives which impact the stakeholders in sport at both professional and grass roots levels The World Anti Doping Code contains an unusual mix of public and private regulation which is of more general interest and fully explored in this work Each of the 14 chapters addresses doping regulation from a legal perspective such as tort corporate governance employment law human rights law or a scientific area Legal areas are generally considered from an international and not national perspective Issues including fairness logic and the likelihood of compliance are explored It is vital reading for anyone interested in the law regulation and governance of sport Managing Expectations and Policy Responses to Racism in Sport Keir Reeves, Megan Ponsford, Sean Gorman, 2017-10-02 This volume presents research on policy responses to racism in sporting codes predominantly Australian Rules football in a global context While the three guest editors are based in Australia and their work pertains to the uniquely domestic game of Australian Rules football the outcomes research vectors and key issues from this research are part of a much larger on going international conversation that is equally relevant when considering for instance racism in English Premier League football first class cricket and basketball The book is an outcome of an Australian Research Council ARC funded project titled Assessing the Australian Football League s Racial and Religious Vilification Laws to Promote Community Harmony Multiculturalism and Reconciliation which investigated social participation and the impact of the Australian Football League s anti racial vilification policy since its introduction in 1995 This book was published as a special issue of Sport in Society
