Kempe's Engineers Year-book ,1995 Minerals Yearbook Geological Survey,Interior Department,Mines Bureau,2016 This volume of the Minerals Yearbook provides an annual review of mineral production and trade and of mineral related government and industry developments in more than 175 foreign countries These annual reviews are designed to provide timely statistical data on mineral commodities in various countries Minerals Yearbook ,2013 Biennial Report of the Division of Highways to the Director of the Department of Public Works California. Division of Highways,1942 The Outlook ,1945 Includes supplements called Statistical section and annual issue called Midyear forecast "Code of Massachusetts regulations, 2013" ,2013 Archival snapshot of entire looseleaf Code of Massachusetts Regulations held by the Social Law Library of Massachusetts as of January 2020 All 3 Types of Glial Cells Are Important for Memory Formation Leif Hertz,Ye Chen,2016-11-23 The vertebrate brain contains neurons and 3 classical types of glia cells astrocytes oligodendrocytes and microglia Astrocytes and microglia have mainly been studied in gray matter whereas oligodendrocytes myelinate white matter tracts Until recently microglial effects were considered mainly during pathological conditions but is now known that microglia plays important roles also in normal brain function All these 3 glial cell types and their collaboration with neurons are important for learning The concept that glia cells are important for cognitive function is not new A glial neuronal theory of brain function was proposed by Galambos in 1961 Hyden and Egyhazi demonstrated glial RNA changes in microdissected glia cells during learning in rats in 1963 and astrocytic and oligodendrocytic involvement of K mediated effects of learning has been suggested and or demonstrated from the 1960 s and onwards as recently reviewed by Hertz and Chen Neuroscience and Biobehavioural Reviews 2016 In 1969 van den Berg et al showed compartmentation of glutamate in brain and thus of production of the neurotransmitters glutamate and GABA which are essential for learning That glutamate is synthesized in astrocytes because they in contrast to neurons express the enzyme pyruvate carboxylase was demonstrated 10 15 years later by Yu et al in cultured astrocytes and Shank et al in intact brain tissue However the present e book focuses on more recent developments Most information is available about astrocytic roles in learning The importance of astrocytes in the tripartite synapse and of microglia in the tetrapartite synapse is illustrated in the front page figure which emphasizes the role of gliotransmitters and of Ca² transport through gap junctions coupling astrocytes into a functional syncytium Astrocytes are important for establishments of brain rhythms which may differ in different cognitive tasks and although the exact reason why knock out of the astrocytic water channel AQP4 impairs memory remains to be established several possibilities are discussed The importance of the two astrocyte specific processes glutamate and glutamine formation and glycogenolysis is discussed in considerable detail Glycogenolysis is important not only for astrocytic processes involved in learning but also for those in neurons because glycolytically derived lactate has signaling functions in the extracellular space and may be accumulated in minute quantities into very specific and small neuronal structures Some neurotransmitters stimulating glycogenolysis are also involved in psychiatric disease Noradrenaline released from locus coeruleus exerts direct effects on both astrocytes and neurons and in addition promotes secretion of corticotropin releasing hormone and adrenocorticotrophic hormone ACTH in brain and of glucocorticoids from the adrenal cortex all of which are responsible for stress effects on learning Lead causes memory impairment by inhibition of glutamine formation due to oxidative stress and reduced effectiveness of the glutathione system The many adverse effects of fetal alcohol exposure on behaviour and learning are caused by a multitude of effects on all three types of glia cells Traumatic brain injury also exerts multifactorial effects including microglia astrocyte induced secretion of neuroinflammatory molecules and axonal disruption and oligodendrocytic dysfunction In normal brain oligodendrocytes respond to the depolarization caused by neuronal activity with accelerated conduction velocity and increased compound action potentials which facilitate learning

Philosophical Foundations of Fiduciary Law Andrew S. Gold, Paul B. Miller, 2014-08-14 Fiduciary law is a critically important body of law Fiduciary duties ensure the integrity of a remarkable variety of relationships institutions and organizations They apply to relationships of great personal significance including in some jurisdictions the relationship between parents and children They structure a wide variety of commercial relationships and they are essential to the regulation of relationships between professional service providers and their clients including relationships between lawyer and client doctor and patient and investment manager and client Fiduciary duties perhaps uniquely in private law challenge traditional ways of marking the boundaries between private and public law inasmuch as they figure prominently in public governance Indeed there is even a storied tradition of thinking of the authority of the state in fiduciary terms Notwithstanding its importance fiduciary law has been woefully under analysed by legal theorists Filling this gap with a series of chapters by leading theorists this book includes chapters on the nature of fiduciary relationships the connection between fiduciary duties and morality the content and significance of fiduciary loyalty the economic significance of fiduciary law the application of fiduciary principles to public law and international law the import of fiduciary relationships to theories of authority and various other fundamental topics in the field In many cases new and important questions are raised by the book's chapters Indeed this book not only offers a much needed theoretical assessment of fiduciary topics it defines the field going forward setting an agenda for future philosophical study of fiduciary law

Education Sector Plans and their Implementation in Developing Countries Roy Carr-Hill, 2023-03-09 This book examines the factors affecting the successful implementation of Education Sector Plans in developing countries It provides a detailed comparison that draws on data from 27 countries to offer careful research conclusions and policy recommendations Offering a detailed comparison of the schooling situation e.g. availability of potable water and toilets provision for the disabled as well as educational outcomes both test scores and percentages out of school from the 27 countries using empirical evidence the book examines the resources that have been invested in different education sectors investigating the development and success of each plan The volume uses correlation analysis to compare factors including the availability of government funding national characteristics ministerial decisions influences of country and donor stakeholders as well as district and school level issues Thorough comparative analysis of the data is then demonstrated with two measures of achievements to identify which factors can be considered as the most important in order to reach realistic policy and research conclusions Timely and engaging this book will be of great interest to researchers scholars and postgraduate students in the field of education and international development comparative education and international education more broadly United Business Service ,1949

Matricellular Receptors as Potential Targets in Anti-Cancer Therapeutic Strategies Hervé Emonard,Stéphane Dedieu,Laurent Duca,2016-11-22 The invasive character of a primary cancer is greatly dependent on numerous interactions between tumor cells and their extracellular surroundings Matricellular receptors are defined as cell surface receptors that bind extracellular matrix ECM structural proteins and soluble factors dynamically acting on ECM homeostasis Matricellular receptors mediate numerous signalings from the extracellular environment to cell nucleus and drive main biological functions that are cell growth survival and migration Numerous data from the last decade evidence that matricellular receptors are biosensors that allow to a tumor cell answering to microenvironmental variations and in this sense they are important contributors to tumor cell malignancy Matricellular receptors represent thus valuable targets for the development of original anti cancer strategies Original reports bibliographic reviews or hypotheses are welcome to improve the basic knowledge of matricellular receptor properties their spatio temporal regulation the dynamic formation of complex receptors and the impact of such interactions on the invasive properties of tumor cells Biological biophysical and pharmacological as well as in silico contributions will be appreciated
