This book brings together a set of new essays examining characters and characterization in those books from a variety of methodological perspectives. The essays illustrate how narratological, sociolinguistic, reader response, feminist, redaction, reception, historical, and comparative literature approaches can be fruitfully applied to the question of Luke's techniques of characterization. Theoretical and methodological discussions are complemented with case studies of specific Lukan characters. Together, the essays reflect the understanding that while many of the literary techniques involved in characterization attest a certain universality, each writer also brings his or her own unique perspective and talent to the portrayal and use of characters with the result that analysis of a writer's characters and style of characterization can enhance appreciation of that writer's work      Needed Research in American Dialects Dennis Richard Preston, 2003 Brings together some of the most highly recognized specialists in the fields of sociolinguistics and dialectology to offer a survey of the field's last 20 years      Garner on Language and Writing Bryan A. Garner, 2009 This compilation of Brian A. Garner's essays shows the breadth of his scholarship covering subjects as wide ranging as learning to write style persuasion contractual and legislative drafting grammar lexicography writing in law school writing in law practice judicial writing and all the literature relating to these diverse subjects Anyone with a lively interest in language writing and law will find this book of interest BOOK JACKET      Paperbound Books in Print, 1992      □□□□□□□□, 1993      Multiple Paths to Literacy Joan P.
