Wear and Appearance of Army Uniforms and Insignia United States. Department of the Army, 1993    Reading Literacy in the U. S. Marilyn Binkley, Trevor Williams, 1997-07 A study of the reading comprehension of 4th and 9th grade students in the U.S. that goes beyond simple comparisons of national achievement levels The reader can place the U.S. in an international perspective compare the performance of the U.S. population with the performance of children in 32 other nations and thus evaluate our students against a world standard It looks at the reading comprehension skill of 4th graders the variation in these skills across various sub populations of students and the explanation for these variations according to what families teachers and schools do and provide Charts and tables    Reading Literacy in the United States Marilyn R. Binkley, Trevor Williams, 1996 Using data from the 1991 IEA International Association for the Evaluation of Educational Achievement Reading Literacy Study a study compared United States fourth and ninth grade students to students in 32 other countries examined relationships between reading comprehension and aspects of family schooling and community and investigated the nature of reading instruction in American classrooms National samples of classes at the grade level containing the most 9 year olds and 14 year olds were used A world average was constructed of the 18 participating nations that are also members of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development OECD Results indicated that 1 American fourth graders outperformed students from all other countries except Finland 2 American ninth graders performance was closely grouped with that of students from 15 other nations 3 in the United States White students read better than Black and Hispanic students 4 most groups of American students outperformed the OECD average 5 students whose parents did not finish high school read at about the same level as the OECD average at fourth grade but fell below the average in the ninth grade 6 when differences in wealth race ethnicity level of parental education and other related attributes were taken into account children from one parent mother only families did as well as children from two parent families 7 parents educational attainment influenced reading comprehension over and above other aspects of family background 8 what teachers said they believed about reading instruction differed markedly from what they actually did and had students do Contains 70 references 43 notes 4 exhibits 3 tables and 29 figures of data RS

Validity of Gains in Scores on the Kentucky Instructional Results Information System (KIRIS) Daniel M. Koretz,Sheila I. Barron,1998 In recent years in an effort to avoid the degradation of instruction and inflation of test scores that often occurred when educators were held accountable for scores on multiple choice tests policymakers have experimented with accountability systems based on performance assessments The Kentucky Instructional Results Information System KIRIS which rewarded or sanctioned schools largely on the basis of changes in scores on a complex partially performance based assessment was an archetype of this wave of reform It is not a given however that performance assessment can avoid the inflation of scores that arises when teachers and students focus too narrowly on the content of the assessment used for accountability rather than focusing on the broad domains of achievement the assessment is intended to measure Accordingly this study evaluated the extent to which the large performance gains shown on KIRIS represented real improvements in student learning rather than inflation of scores External evidence of validity that is comparisons to other test data suggests that KIRIS gains were substantially inflated Even though KIRIS was designed partially to reflect the frameworks of the National Assessment of Educational Progress NAEP large KIRIS gains in fourth grade reading from 1992 to 1994 had no echo in NAEP scores Large KIRIS gains in mathematics from 1992 to 1994 in the fourth and eighth grades did have some echo in NAEP scores but Kentucky's NAEP gains were roughly one fourth as large as the KIRIS gains and were typical of gains shown in other states The large gains high school students showed on KIRIS in mathematics and reading were not reflected in their scores on the American College Testing ACT college admissions tests KIRIS science gains were accompanied by ACT gains only one fifth as large Internal evidence of validity that is evidence based on patterns within the KIRIS data themselves was more ambiguous but also provided some warning of likely inflation particularly in mathematics For example schools that showed large gains on KIRIS also tended to show larger than average discrepancies in performance between new and reused test items suggesting that teachers had coached students narrowly on the content of previous tests The findings of this study indicate that inflation of scores remains a risk in assessment based accountability systems even when they rely on test formats other than multiple choice There is a clear need to evaluate the results and effects of assessment based accountability systems and better methods for evaluating the validity of gains need to be developed
