Faulkner and the Natural World Donald M. Kartiganer, Ann J. Abadie, 1999 Although he belonged to an American generation of writers deeply influenced by the high modernist revolt against nature and against the self imposed limits of realism to a palpable world William Faulkner reveals throughout his work an abiding sensitivity to the natural world He writes of the big woods of animals and of the human body as a ground of being that art and culture can neither transcend nor completely control The eleven essays that make up this volume including a paper written by the acclaimed novelist William Kennedy explore the place of the unbuilt world in Faulkner s fiction They give particular attention to the social mythic and economic significance of nature to the complexity of racial identity and to the inevitable clash of gender and sexuality These essays were presented in 1996 as papers at the Faulkner and Yoknapatawpha Conference held annually at the University of Mississippi Included are the following Lawrence Buell s Faulkner and the Claims of the Natural World Thomas L McHaney s Oversexing the Natural World Theresa M Towner s Color Race and Identity in Faulkner s Fiction Jay Watson s The Art of the Literal in Light in August Mary Joanne Dondlinger s The Matter of Race and Gender in Faulkner s Light in August Louise Westling s Sutpen s Marriage to the Dark Body of the Land Myra Jehlen s Faulkner and the Unnatural Diane Roberts s Eula Linda and the Death of Nature David H Evans s The Bear and the Incarnation of America Wiley C Prewitt Jr s Hunting and Habitat in Yoknapatawpha and William Kennedy s Learning from Faulkner The Obituary of Fear Donald M Kartiganer Howry Chair of Faulkner Studies in the Department of English and Ann J Abadie Associate Director of the Center for the Study of Southern Culture teach at the University of Mississippi

American Fiction and the Metaphysics of the Grotesque Dieter Meindl,1996 By synthesizing Kayser s and Bakhtin s views of the grotesque and Heidegger s philosophy of Being American Fiction and the Metaphysics of the Grotesque seeks to demonstrate that American fiction from Poe to Pynchon has tried to convey the existential dimension the pre individual totality or flow of life which defines itself against the mind and its linguistic capacity Dieter Meindl shows how the grotesque through its self contradictory nature has been instrumental in expressing this reality conception an antirationalist stance in basic agreement with existential thought The historical validity of this new metaphysics which grants precedence to Being the context of cognition over the cognizant subject must be upheld in the face of deconstructive animadversions upon any metaphysics of presence The notion of decentering the subject Meindl argues did not originate with deconstruction The existential grotesque confirms the protomodernist character of classic American fiction Meindl traces its course through a number of well known texts by Melville James Gilman Anderson Faulkner and O Connor among others To convey life conceived as motion these writers had to capture that is immobilize it in their art an essentially distortive and therefore grotesque device Melville s Bartleby dealing with a mort vivant is the seminal text in this mode of indirectness As opposed to the existential grotesque which grants access to a preverbal realm the linguistic grotesque of postmodern fiction works on the assumption that all reality is referable to language in a textual universe American Fiction and the Metaphysics of the Grotesque will significantly alter our understanding of certain traditions in American literature
