A Dog's Work

Did you know that some dogs have jobs? A service dog is trained to help a human do many things. Service dogs can help their owners with tasks such as hearing, seeing, and picking things up.

Seeing eye dogs help a person who is blind to walk in a line, cross the street, and avoid obstacles.

Service dogs go to work every day and do not pet the dog.

Worth the Wait

"You will be amazed when you see it," the park ranger said as we sat on the hard wooden benches of the boardwalk. My family was visiting Yellowstone national park. "Yellowstone has many geysers that shoot very hot water and steam into the air, but Old Faithful is the most famous because it goes off every hour or so. CDs were around in their pocket, and as possible but there was no music services. Instead of

The Relationship Between Reading Fluency, Writing Fluency, and Reading Comprehension in Suburban Third-grade Students Mary Leonard Palmer, 2021

The topic of reading fluency is of great importance in education today Research has shown a significant positive relationship between reading fluency and reading comprehension However little is known about writing fluency and its connection with reading comprehension The purpose of this study was to examine the relationships between reading fluency writing fluency and reading comprehension First using the principles of assessing reading fluency I designed a writing assessment and measured the writing fluency of 54 3rd graders I examined the writing assessments as they related to the students reading fluency and reading comprehension scores Secondly I performed a quasi experimental scientific study with 3rd grade students The control group n 36 were taught the board adopted language arts curriculum while the experimental group n 18 had systematic direct instruction in reading and writing fluency in addition to the regular language arts curriculum The research questions were What is the relationship between students reading comprehension and reading fluency among a group of third graders What is the relationship between their reading comprehension and writing fluency What is the relationship between their reading fluency and writing fluency Will the experimental group of students with direct instruction in reading and writing fluency outperform the control group in reading comprehension What other factors are involved in increasing reading comprehension Pearson's correlation statistic paired t tests independent samples t tests and multiple linear regression analysis were used to analyze the data All statistical analyses were performed using PASW formerly SPSS for Windows Consistent with reading research the results showed there was a strongly positive correlation between reading comprehension and reading fluency This study also found a correlation between reading comprehension and writing as well as a correlation between reading comprehension and writing fluency However the link between reading comprehension and writing fluency was not found in pretest measurement or the posttest pretest measurement The ANOVA results showed that reading and writing fluency explained a statistically significant 50% of the total variance in reading comprehension scores This study also showed a strong positive correlation between reading fluency and writing fluency in the posttest measurement In the quasi experimental study the experimental group did not outperform the experimental group both groups made significant progress The major implication of this study is that writing could help increase reading comprehension which results in another tool for teachers to use in teaching reading comprehension This could result in an additional emphasis in teaching writing skills in the classroom
