2 November Economics Zimsec Paper 3:

Labour and Economic Change in Southern Africa c.1900-2000 Rory Pilosof, Andrew Cohen, 2021-06-03 This book explores the social and economic development of Zimbabwe, Zambia and Malawi over the course of the twentieth century. These three countries have long shared and interconnected pasts. All three were drawn into the British Empire at a similar time and the formation of the ill-fated Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland formally linked these countries together for a decade in the mid-twentieth century. This formal political relationship created dynamics that resulted in yet closer economic and social links. After Federation, the economic realities of industry, transport and labour supplies meant that these three countries continued to be intricately interconnected. Yet despite these connected pasts, comparative work on the economic histories of Malawi, Zambia and Zimbabwe and how these change over time is rare. This book addresses the gap by providing the first comprehensive collection of labour and census data across the twentieth century for these three countries. The different economic models and performances of these states offer good comparison, allowing researchers to look at different models of development and how these played out over the long term. The book provides data on population growth and change, industrial and occupational structure, and the various shifts in what the economically active population did. It will be useful for historians, economists, development studies scholars, and non-governmental organisations working on twentieth-century and contemporary southern Africa.

Financial Inclusion: Regulatory Practices in SADC Howard Chitimira, Tapiwa Warikandwa, 2023-05-25 Against a background of calls to prioritise the improvement of financial inclusion in Africa, this book provides an analysis of current financial inclusion measures in Southern Africa. Evaluating the existing strengths and weaknesses of financial inclusion in Africa, it identifies opportunities to improve inclusive financial services and aid poverty reduction in the region. With a focus on South Africa, Namibia, Botswana, and Zimbabwe as case studies for assessing current financial inclusion in the context of particular challenges faced by unbanked and underbanked customers who are easy targets for cybercriminals due to low levels of digital literacy, it looks into the regulation and promotion of financial inclusion in Southern Africa. The book explores financial inclusion in the context of digital transformation in the 21st century, examining the regulation and promotion of financial inclusion in the context of digital transformation as well as the challenges related to financial inclusion. Suggesting improvements to aspects of company law, securities, and financial markets in the Southern African Development Community region, the book offers a comprehensive study on the regulation and promotion of financial inclusion in the Southern African Development Community region. It will be essential reading for students and academics researching financial inclusion, international economic law, and development.

Parks in Transition Brian Child, 2013-06-17 Parks face intense pressure from both environmental and developmental perspectives to conserve biodiversity and provide economic opportunities for rural communities. These imperatives are often in conflict while potential solutions may be subject to theoretical and practical disagreement and complicated by pressing economic, political, and cultural considerations. Parks in Transition collects the work of the most distinguished scholars and practitioners in this field drawing on insight from over 50 case studies and synthesizing them into lessons to guide park management in transitional economies where the challenges of poverty and governance can be severe. The central message of the book is that parks are common property regimes that are supposed to serve society. It analyses and sheds light on the crucial questions arising from this perspective: If parks are set aside to serve poor people should conservation demands over rule demands for jobs and economic growth? Or will deliberately using parks as bridgeheads for better land use and engines for rural development produce more and better conservation? The issue that arises at all levels is that of accountability including the problematic linkages between park authorities and political systems and the question of how to measure park performance. This book provides vital new insights for park management regarding the relationship between conservation and commercialization, performance management, new systems of governance and management and linkages between parks, landscape and the land use economy.

Africa Research Bulletin, 1997     Studies in the History of African Mine Labour in Colonial Zimbabwe Ian R. Phimister, Charles Van Onselen, 1978     New Serial Titles, 1995 A union list of serials commencing publication after Dec 31 1949     Joint Acquisitions List of Africana, 1989     Zimbabwe Press Mirror, 1998     Zimbabwe Suzanne Dansereau, Mario Zamponi, 2005. The two articles are revised versions of papers presented at the end of May 2004 to a Zimbabwe Conference at the Nordic Africa Institute which was co organized by the project Liberation and Democracy in Southern Africa LiDeSA. They highlight current socio economic aspects of Zimbabwean society. By doing so they raise relevant issues yet ones that have tended to be neglected given the almost exclusive concentration on political events. While this is understandable the articles fill the gap in our knowledge and add insights into important sectors of society. These include information on the Zimbabwean economy and the present constraints of the decline which together help us to understand the structural legacy that any future government will have to deal with. What is more the elections in Zimbabwe in 2005 provide an ideal moment to discuss such matters. This Discussion Paper will thereby make a substantive contribution to the analysis of the overall picture in Zimbabwe.
