

THE FOURTH OF JULY

by Lenore Hetrick

Hurray! The day has come to cheer!
This is the big day of the year!
And why is that? You're asking why?!
Because my dear, it's the Fourth of July!

Ah, that's a day for a big parade,
And that's a day for shouting made!
A day for whooping and for cheer,
I call it the best day of the year.

In seventeen hundred seventy-six
Our country was in an awful fix.
King George, the Third – a tyrant, he!
Made us pay taxes on our tea.

Now all our forefathers looked so grim.
Said they, "We'll just attend to him.
We were certainly meant to be equal and free,
As we'll show that king across the sea!"

Then what did they do? Yes, it's really true!
But of course, I need not tell it to you.
That Declaration you know so well
Then the king's soldiers did swiftly rebel.

Now, it was on the Fourth of July –
And it brings a tear of joy to my eye!
That the Declaration to the king was made.
It throws all other events in the shade.

So hurray, I say! It's a day to cheer!
It's the only day of the whole big year.
Let's join the parade that's marching by –
And let's give three cheers for the Fourth of July!

Deliberating War Patricia Roberts-Miller, 2024-06-27 This book argues that treating politics as war derails essential democratic processes including deliberation and policy argumentation in complicated ways Politics is war is not always just a figure of speech but often a sincere expression of how people see disagreement they mean it literally and they use it to evade the responsibilities of rhetoric This book takes the metaphor seriously Using a series of case studies ranging from the 432 BCE Debate at Sparta to Bill O Reilly s recent invention of a War on Christmas Deliberating War illustrates pathologies of deliberation that arise when a community understands itself to be at political war This book identifies recurrent rhetorical strategies that constrain or even effectively prohibit deliberation such as deflecting reframing threat inflation appealing to paired terms claiming moral license radicalizing a base In short what seems to be an effective solution to an immediate rhetorical problem using hyperbole and demagoguery to persuade people to adopt a specific leader or policy is a trap that prevents democratic practices of compromise deliberation fairness reciprocity Unhappily threat inflation even when well intentioned At some point hyperbolic rhetoric becomes threat inflation and then that inflated threat becomes the premise of policies both foreign and domestic And then agreeing as to the obvious existential threat posed by the Other and uniting behind the obvious policy solution is a necessary sign of being on the side of Good Once communities become persuaded that they are in an apocalyptic battle between Good and Evil politics as war can quickly become real war often with far reaching and catastrophic consequences
