Afl Prospectus 25:

Labor Geographies Andrew Herod, 2001-09-24 Discussions of the geographic transformations wrought by capitalism generally treat corporations as the primary agents of spatial change. We hear of billions of dollars flowing here factories moving there venture capitalists opening up new markets and workers having to take it or leave it. Yet labor too is increasingly thinking and acting geographically whether by struggling to impose national contracts building regional national or international links of solidarity or engaging in debates over local economic development. This book provides a comprehensive introduction to the emerging discipline of labor geography. Combining innovative theoretical analysis with empirical case studies from around the world Herod examines the spatial contexts and scales in which workers live organize and work to address particular economic and political problems. The first book length text of its kind this is an indispensable resource for anyone interested in working class life workers organizations and the contemporary dynamics of capitalism.

Maida Springer was an active participant in shaping a history that involved powerful movements for social political and economic equality and justice for workers women and African Americans. Maida Springer is the first full length biography to document and analyze the central role played by Springer in international affairs particularly in the formation of AFL CIO's African policy during the Cold War and African independence movements. Richards explores the ways in which pan Africanism racism sexism and anti-Communism affected Springer's political development her labor activism and her relationship with labor leaders in the AFL CIO the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions ICFTU and in African unions. Springer's life experiences and work reveal the complex nature of black struggles for equality and justice. A strong supporter of both the AFL CIO and the ICFTU Springer nonetheless recognized that both organizations were fraught with racism sexism and ethnocentrism. She also understood that charges of Communism were often used as a way to thwart African American demands for social justice. As an African American she found herself in the unenviable position of promoting to Africans the ideals of American democracy from which she was excluded from fully enjoying. Richards's biography of Maida Springer uniquely connects pan Africanism national and international labor relations the Cold War and African American labor women's and civil rights histories. In addition to documenting Springer's role in international labor relations the biography provides a larger view of a whole range of political leaders and social movements Maida Springer is a stirring biography that spans the fields of women studies African American studies and labor history American Labor, 1970 The Musical Standard, 1885 Lijst van nieuw verschenen boeken, 1878 Het Leeskabinet, 1877 Bijdragen tot de geschiedenis van den nederlandschen boekhandel Vereeniging ter Bevordering van de Belangen des Boekhandels (Amsterdam, Netherlands), 1891 Woordenschat Taco Hajo Beer, Eliza Laurillard, 1899 De Nederlandsche spectator Mark Prager Lindo, Lodewijk Mulder, Gerard Keller, Carel Vosmaer, 1899
