Resumen de editor

Urbanization and Development, 2016 The analysis of urban development of the past twenty years presented in this maiden edition of the World Cities Report shows with compelling evidence that there are new forms of collaboration and cooperation planning governance finance and learning that can sustain positive change The Report unequivocally demonstrates that the current urbanization model is unsustainable in many respects It conveys a clear message that the pattern of urbanization needs to change in order to better respond to the challenges of our time to address issues such as inequality climate change informality insecurity and the unsustainable forms of urban expansion

The Resilience of the Roman Empire Dimitri van Limbergen, Sadi Maréchal, Wim De Clercq, 2020 The Resilience of the Roman Empire discusses the relationship between population and regional development in the Roman world from the perspective of archaeology By adapting a comparative approach the focus of the volume lies on exploring the various ways in which regional communities actively responded to population growth or decline in order to keep going on the land available to them The starting point of the theoretical framework for the case studies is the agricultural intensification models developed by Thomas Malthus and Ester Boserup In order to advance the debate on the validity of these models for identifying the societal and economic pathways of the Roman world the contributors incorporate the concepts of resilience and diversity into their approach and shift attention from the longue dur e to how people managed to sustain themselves over shorter periods of time The aim of the volume is not to discard the theories of Malthus and Boserup but rather to deconstruct overly strict Malthusian or Boserupian scenarios and as such introduce novel and more layered ways of thinking by exploring resilience and variability in human responses to population growth decline in the Roman world      Global Assessment Report on Disaster Risk Reduction United Nations. International Stratety for Disaster Reduction. Secretariat,2015 A comprehensive review and analysis of the natural hazards menacing humanity It also provides new and arresting evidence on how where and why disaster risk is increasing globally Drawing on detailed studies this Global Assessment urges a radical shift in development practices and a major new emphasis on resilience and disaster planning      The Mining Journal, Railway and Commercial Gazette ,1891
