

World War II

Lesson Plan 1: Start of World War II

National Curriculum:	Learning Objectives:
A study of an aspect or theme in British history that extends pupils' chronological knowledge beyond 1066; a significant turning point in British history, for example, the first railways or the Battle of Britain.	- To understand when and how World War II started. - To recognise the key people involved in the start of World War II. - To understand the difference between primary and secondary historical evidence.

Prior Knowledge	Useful Vocabulary
Pupils may or may not have existing knowledge of World War II. This is the first lesson in the series.	- Adolf Hitler - Winston Churchill - Invade - Living Space (Lebensraum) - Nazi - Führer - Treaty See Glossary for more terms and definitions.

Warm-Up Activity	Knowledge Grid: (Worksheet) Give pupils some time to think about what they already know about World War II. Ask them to complete the first two sections of the grid. Pupils should note down what they already know and what they want to know about World War II. Recognising Types of Evidence: (PowerPoint) Use this PowerPoint to introduce pupils to primary and secondary evidence that historians use to find out about World War II. Discuss the advantages of each piece of evidence and why they are useful in finding out more about life during World War II. This develops the Historical Skill of using historical sources.
Main Activities	Timeline: (Worksheet) With a partner or in a small group, pupils should complete the worksheet. They should read the information and highlight the key events of the beginning of the war from the point where Germany invaded Austria to France's surrender. They should then use the highlighted material to create a simple timeline of the events. This develops the Historical Skill of chronology. News Broadcast Template: (Worksheet) Pupils should use the worksheet to create a short news broadcast about the events of the start of World War II. They should use the timeline they created in the previous activity to help them fill in their plan. This could be done individually or in the same pairs or small groups. The broadcasts that children create could be performed for the rest of the class or recorded and edited to include music and sound effects. This develops the Historical Skill of chronology. There are also Foundation and Stretch versions of this resource. German Conquests in Europe: (PowerPoint) Use the PowerPoint to reinforce the rapid invasion of Germany in western Europe. Ask pupils to discuss how they might have felt living in Britain at this time.

Success Criteria:
- I understand when and how World War II started. - I recognise the key people involved in the start of World War II. - I understand the difference between primary and secondary historical evidence.
