Assessing Writing Across the Curriculum Charles R. Duke, Rebecca Sanchez, 2001 Assessing Writing Across the Curriculum offers guidelines for effective assessment of student writing performance in various content areas such as English science mathematics and social studies at the junior or senior high school level The book suggests a change in teaching methodology in order to make writing a key part of the instructional process Written by teachers it offers examples of applications and tools for assessment concluding with a list of additional resources for further research Assessing Writing Across the Curriculum addresses issues such as assignment design communication of expectations scoring rubric design and student involvement in writing assessment It emphasizes writing to learn versus writing to test This change in emphasis allows the student to understand how writing can contribute to his or her thinking and learning about a subject The book utilizes the knowledge editors Duke and Sanchez have accumulated in directing National Writing Project sites and in their extensive in service work on writing assessment with teachers Writing: Unit-lessons in Composition, 1965 SRA Open Court Reading WrightGroup/McGraw-Hill, 2001-07 Experiments in Industrial Psychology Adelbert Ford, 1937 Voices of Wisdom Gary E. Kessler, 1995 Unique in its multicultural character this text includes Hindu Buddhist Chinese African Native American Islamic Jewish and feminist philosophies It is edited to promote a multicultural approach to philosophy to teach students how to read primary sources and to encourage students to think independently and critically about fundamental philosophical issues This anthology offers significant readings on traditional philosophical topics that educate students for the ever increasing pluralism of society and assist them in developing an international perspective Psychware Sourcebook Samuel E. Krug, 1988 Writing/Grammar 10 Teacher's Edition Set Bob Jones University Press, Elizabeth Rose, 2002 Chicago Schools Journal, 1982 Let's Begin Reading Right Marjorie Vannoy Fields, Lois A. Groth, Katherine Spangler, 2004 Written from a constructivist viewpoint this popular book for future teachers of children from preschool through the primary grades focuses on how young children construct literacy and how teachers can support and guide that activity through developmentally appropriate teaching practices Advocates giving children a choice of the reading material from which they will learn and caution against grouping children solely by literacy ability Examines current research into emergent and holistic literacy and tie its findings to instructional practices that teach such skills as phonemic awareness phonics and spelling within the context of meaningful reading and writing tasks Increased coverage of assessment emphasizes performance based alternatives to standardized testing during early childhood and examines current recommendations in terms of developmentally appropriate practice Provides a strong explanation of shared and interactive writing Discusses literacy development in infants and toddlers For future or current teachers interested in literacy or reading methods in early childhood
