

Foundations of American Government

Complete Unit Study Guide Packet

Overview

Just as Rome was not built in a day, America's government was not drafted in one afternoon. In fact, thousands of years of history, government models, and revolutionary ideas paved the way for the foundation of the United States Government. The issues that early American political leaders faced with England gave them many ideas of what not to do. To remedy this, they pulled ideas from many different places.

The ideas of a democracy where the people had a choice in their government and its decisions heralds from the democracy of ancient Athens and the republic of ancient Rome. From these, the framers of American democracy took the ideas of multiple branches of government, legislators that were representative of the people, and the idea that citizens can vote.

Then, they borrowed from English history. The Magna Carta inspired them to assert their concerns under a ruler who was not fulfilling their role. Additionally, the Magna Carta called for rights to the people, which meshed well with the Enlightenment ideas of the age. Next, the Mayflower Compact inspired them to assert that it is only by the consent of the governed that a government is rightfully formed. Founding Father Benjamin Franklin took careful notes on of the Iroquois Great Law of Peace, which inspired his proposal of a confederation for the American Colonies.

Finally, the framers took budding ideas from the Enlightenment. Locke's emphasis on the protection of "life, liberty, and property" are among the most noticeable Enlightenment ideas represented in the Constitution.
