Lessons Learned from a Portuguese Training Center Nelson Santos,2017 Introduction Ocean Medical is a Portuguese international training Center of American Heart Association for Advanced Cardiac Life Support ACLS since 2009 Every year about 354 health care professionals HCP get through our ACLS courses ACLS skills are mandatory for all HCP who work with critical care patients Our instructors manage to improve every studentu2019s skills so they can be succeeded

About 70.84% of all our ACLS students get it successfully so we need to understand why 29.16% don't succeed and how our instructors can improve their teaching strategies and methods so we can increase our success rate. Aim: Our first aim was to assess the practical testing scenario checklist PTSC of all Ocean Medical's ACLS students between 2013 and 2017 identifying in which algorithm students fail more. The second aim was to define new strategies to improve students' technical and non-technical skills in that specific algorithm. Standard: All ACLS students included in this study are doctors or nurses. The number of possible scenarios of PTSC with bradycardia algorithm is 2.6 and with tachycardia is 4.6 with mandatory scenario of cardiac arrest algorithm. Method: An observational retrospective study was done with the analysis of all PTSC in ACLS courses since 2013 to 2017. Every student had 2 opportunities to successfully complete this task for those who didn't make it at first we considered for analysis the second one. For each student we've outlined the algorithm that leads to failure. It was considered statistically significant a p value less than 0.05. Results: During the study timeline Ocean Medical trained 1415 HCP 177 were excluded due to incomplete data. Were included a total of 1238 students 577 doctors and 661 nurses with a median age of 31. The successful rate was 70.84% doctors 404 nurses 473. For those who failed 29.16% doctors 173 nurses 188 we verified they failed more at cardiac arrest algorithm on defibrillation rhythms 50.69% the tachycardia algorithm showed also a failure rate of 27.15%. Limitations: The actual PTSC used in ACLS course does not allow accurate description of the error. Conclusions: We found that most students who failed ACLS course did it at cardiac arrest algorithm on defibrillation rhythms followed by the tachycardia algorithm. We have also verified that doctors and nurses have very similar successful ratios 70.02% versus 71.56% p
