

Phylogenetic Trees

How do the changes in gene sequences allow us to reconstruct the evolutionary relationships between related species?

Why?

The saying "Don't judge a book by its cover." could be applied to the topic of evolution. For example, humans share 75% of their DNA with chickens. Biologists point to this as evidence that humans and chickens once shared a common ancestor. The advent of DNA technology has given scientists the tools with which to examine how closely related certain species are. DNA analysis allows scientists to construct phylogenetic trees whose branches link together the relatedness of different organisms.

Model 1 – Phylogenetic Trees

1. Refer to Model 1.
 - a. How long ago did the common ancestor of all the organisms on this phylogenetic tree exist?
 - b. Which two lines diverged 30 million years ago?
 - c. List all modern descendants of the organism that was alive at the point indicated by the asterisk.

Social Computing and Behavioral Modeling Huan Liu, John Salerno, Michael J. Young, 2009-04-05 Social computing is concerned with the study of social behavior and social context based on computational systems Behavioral modeling reproduces the social behavior and allows for experimenting scenario planning and deep understanding of behavior patterns and potential outcomes. The pervasive use of computer and Internet technologies provides an unprecedented environment of various social activities. Social computing facilitates behavioral modeling in model building analysis pattern mining and prediction. Numerous interdisciplinary and interdependent systems are created and used to represent the various social and physical systems for investigating the interactions between groups communities or nations. This requires joint efforts to take advantage of the state of the art research from multiple disciplines social computing and behavioral modeling in order to document lessons learned and develop novel theories experiments and methodologies in terms of social physical psychological and governmental mechanisms. The goal is to enable us to experiment create and recreate an operational environment with a better understanding of the contributions from each individual discipline forging joint interdisciplinary efforts. This is the second international workshop on Social Computing Behavioral Modeling and Prediction. The submissions were from Asia Australia Europe and America. Since SBP09 is a single track workshop we could not accept all the good submissions. The accepted papers cover a wide range of interesting topics.
