

More about Earth's atmosphere

The atmosphere consists of five layers. The troposphere is the layer closest to Earth, and the fifth and highest layer of the atmosphere is the exosphere.

Exosphere 600-10,000 km (above sea level)

This layer ends where the Earth's gravity is too weak to prevent gas particles from drifting into space. The exobase is the boundary between the exosphere and thermosphere, and its altitude changes based on the thermosphere's size.

No information available

Thermosphere 85-600 km

The International Space Station and China's Tiangong Space Station orbit Earth in the thermosphere. The Karman Line, which marks the boundary between Earth and outer space, is located here.

2,000°C

Mesosphere 50-85 km

Most space debris and meteors burn up at this level before reaching Earth's surface.

-90°C

Stratosphere 10-50 km

Located in the stratosphere, the ozone layer blocks much of the sun's radiation.

-40°C

Troposphere 0-10 km

Most of Earth's weather, including the wind and most clouds, exists in this layer.

-40°C

From May Fourth to June Fourth Ellen Widmer, Te-wei

Wang, 2009-06-30 What do the Chinese literature and film inspired by the Cultural Revolution 1966 1976 have in common with the Chinese literature and film of the May Fourth movement 1918 1930? This new book demonstrates that these two periods of the highest literary and cinematic creativity in twentieth century China share several aims to liberate these narrative arts from previous aesthetic orthodoxies to draw on foreign sources for inspiration and to free individuals from social conformity. Although these consistencies seem readily apparent with a sharper focus the distinguished contributors to this volume reveal that in many ways discontinuity not continuity prevails Their analysis illuminates the powerful meeting place of language imagery and narrative with politics history and ideology in twentieth century China Drawing on a wide range of methodologies from formal analysis to feminist criticism from deconstruction to cultural critique the authors demonstrate that the scholarship of modern Chinese literature and film has become integral to contemporary critical discourse They respond to Eurocentric theories but their ultimate concern is literature and film in China s unique historical context The volume illustrates three general issues preoccupying this century s scholars the conflict of the rural search for roots and the native soil movement versus the new strains of urban exoticism the diacritics of voice narrative mode and intertextuality and the reintroduction of issues surrounding gender and subjectivity Table of Contents Preface
