Each of these four conferences encourages researchers to treat their respective topics within a framework that incorporates jointly a theory b conceptual design and development and c applications in particular case studies and industrial solutions. Following and expanding the model created in 2003 we again solicited and selected quality workshop proposals to complement the more archival nature of the main conferences with research results in a number of selected and more avant garde areas related to the general topic of Web based distributed computing. For instance the so called Semantic Web has given rise to several novel research areas combining linguistics information systems technology and artificial intelligence such as the modeling of legal regulatory systems and the ubiquitous nature of their usage. We were glad to see that ten of our earlier successful workshops ADI CAMS EI2N SWWS ORM OnToContent MONET SEMELS COMBEK IWSSA have appeared in 2008 with a second, third or even fourth edition sometimes by alliance with other newly emerging workshops and that no fewer than three brand new independent workshops could be selected from proposals and hosted. ISDE ODIS and Beyond SAWSDL Workshops audiences productively mingled with each other and with those of the main conferences and there was considerable overlap in authors.

The religion of philosophy or The unification of knowledge Raymond St. James Perrin,1885    The Religion of Philosophy Raymond St. James Perrin,1885 It is well known that religion as well as philosophy depends upon language for the expression of its truths This seems a simple proposition but what are its consequences If language is the sole medium of development of the higher thoughts and feelings in its genesis may we not hope to discover the deepest truths of life and mind Before the complex symbols which we call words came into use and hence before the mind acquired the faculty of forming thoughts or extended comparisons activities or motions were the only medium of expression between sentient beings Language is the development of these expressive actions and so highly complex has it become so far removed from its rude beginnings that it seems another order of creation a system of miraculous origin But when we remember that intelligence is a concomitant development with language that thought or spirit is but a building up of words into ideas and that these words are merely condensed memories common experiences which have become current from tongue to tongue is it not evident that there is no impenetrable mystery in speech and that its product mind is a synthesis of simple and familiar truths Again when we retrace sensibility or feeling from which language has been gradually evolved to its beginnings in organic life we find no absolute demarcations we find that all life whether mental or physical is interdependent Introduction
