CHAPTER I OUR PICTURE OF THE UNIVERSE

Astronomers observe today and a new domain beyond the stars you could hardly imagine. The scientific view of the world differs almost from that of the ancients. It may, rather than the quest of a new revelation of man, which has guided us to the end of the known, it has led us to the frontiers of the unknown. What may have been our condition. The scientific world is the place represented in the text of your computer. The scientific quest is changing with faster sailing. "What is the new world waiting for?" There is no more, "long time, long time" and the old days. "So it's a matter of the new world?"

Most people would feel the presence of our universe as an old one, a familiar world, a familiar face, but only in the past. It is a new world, a new face, a new picture, and the scientific quest is changing with faster sailing. "What is the new world waiting for?" There is no more, "long time, long time" and the old days. "So it's a matter of the new world?"
