

1. How do the respondents' perceptions differ on group norms? When is the technology considered the medium for innovation? Is that enough for them to feel that they have the power to change?
How respondents' in general place different priorities? Their responses concerning innovation are also consistent with their educational level. Gender seems to have no connection with responses.
The responses about the main factors and factors influencing job satisfaction are consistent with responses about innovation.

2. What about the respondents' attitudes that support the government? Do they think that a better life is the alternative? The respondents' perceptions regarding the importance of education for society, the internet, their basic education, and the quality of their job. Basic language, literature, and history. Basic science, mathematics, and their personal interests have a considerable influence on their responses to the government. If the respondents choose a basic education as their priority, it influences on their responses regarding the importance of education.
