Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Defence Committee,2013-07-18 A series of Ofsted inspections on Army Apprenticeships conducted in 2013 rated the overall effectiveness as good This was an improvement over the last inspection in 2009 rated as satisfactory now called requires improvement Some 28 per cent of Army recruits were less than 18 years of age Further information is needed on why the Army is so dependent on recruiting personnel under the age of 18 years compared to the other two Services and whether steps are being taken to reduce this dependency Of those recruited in 2012 3 5 per cent of the Army were rated at entry level 2 for literacy that of a 7 to 8 year old and 39 per cent had a literacy level of an eleven year old If as the MoD states it has to recruit personnel at whatever level of attainment is available then it should boost remedial action when recruitment entry standards are particularly low In light of changes brought about by Future Force 2020 it may be that recruiting personnel with higher levels of attainment would better meet the future needs of the Armed Forces Whilst the Committee recognises that some recruits may not be eager to take further academic exams the MoD should encourage more recruits to undertake English and Maths GCSEs which would stand them in good stead for future employment The MoD has carried out some useful pilot projects with paramedic training and should identify more potential projects to ensure that vital skills paid for by the MoD are not lost to the country GCSE Maths Foundation Keith Gordon,2010-04-23 Be ready for GCSE maths 2010 with this new all in one revision guide and exam practice workbook

The Science of Boredom Sandi Mann,2016-03-22 Are we living in an age where we are more boredom prone Or are other people boring us Or could we be that boring person In our current information age we are constantly connected to technology and have so many varied ways to spend our leisure time that we should all surely never know what boredom feels like Yet boredom appears to be on the rise it seems that the more we have to stimulate us the more stimulation we crave In a quest to relieve our boredom we engage in dangerous risk taking from extreme sports to drugs to gambling to anti social behaviour or we overindulge in shopping or eating The Science of Boredom explores the causes and consequences of boredom in the fast paced twenty first century Parents are desperate to keep their children entertained during every waking moment the education system is geared towards interactivity and attention spans are dropping as we use multiple devices at all times But the world of work can be increasingly repetitive and routine and we are losing the ability to tolerate this everyday tedium Using Sandi Mann s own ground breaking research into boredom this book tells the story of how we act react and cope when we are bored and argues that there is a positive side to boredom It can be a catalyst for humour fun reflection creativity and inspiration The radical solution to the boredom problem is to harness it rather than try to avoid it Allowing yourself time away from constant stimuli can enrich your life We should all embrace our boredom and see the upside of our downtime

For the Love of Learning Tim Bilham,2013-11-11 Edited collection featuring essays from exceptional National Teaching Fellows Presents the cutting edge of pedagogical thinking on the most important topics in higher education today including student engagement assessment internationalisation and employability Destined to become a must read guide for anyone involved in higher education

Must Inclusion be Special? Jonathan Rix,2015-06-05 Must Inclusion be Special examines the discord between special and inclusive education and why this discord can only be resolved when wider inequalities within mainstream education are confronted It calls for a shift in our approach to provision from seeing it as a conglomeration of individualised needs to identifying it as a conglomeration of collective needs The author examines the political medical and cultural tendency of current times to focus upon the individual and contrasts this with the necessity to focus on context This book distinguishes the theoretical perspectives that are often associated with special or inclusive education and the broad range of interests which depend upon their ongoing development This examination leads to a problematisation of mainstream education provision our understanding of why social inequities emerge and how additional support can overcome these inequities Further chapters explore the underlying challenges which emerge from our use and understanding of the notions of special and inclusive outlining an alternative approach based upon a community of provision This approach recognises the interconnectedness of services and the significance of context and it encapsulates the aspiration of much international legislation for participation and inclusion for all But it also assumes that we tend towards diffuse practices services policies settings and roles spread across provision which is variously inclusive and exclusionary In seeking to create equitable participation for all support needs to shift its focus from the individual to this diffuse network of contexts Must Inclusion be Special emerges from the research base which problematises inclusion and special education drawing upon examples from many countries It also refers to the author s research into pedagogy language and policy and his experiences as a teacher and the parent of a child identified with special educational needs
