Food Riots, Food Rights and the Politics of Provisions Naomi Hossain, Patta Scott-Villiers, 2017-09-25 Thousands of people in dozens of countries took to the streets when world food prices spiked in 2008 and 2011. What does the persistence of popular mobilization around food tell us about the politics of subsistence in an era of integrated food markets and universal human rights? This book interrogates this period of historical rupture in the global system of subsistence, getting behind the headlines and inside the politics of food for people on low incomes. The half decade of 2007-2012 was a period of intensely volatile food prices as well as unusual levels of popular mobilization including protests and riots. Detailed case studies are included here from Bangladesh, Cameroon, India, Kenya and Mozambique. The case studies illustrate that political cultures and ways of organizing around food share much across geography and history, indicating common characteristics of the popular politics of provisions under capitalism. However, all politics are ultimately local and it is demonstrated how the historic fallout of a subsistence crisis depends ultimately on how the actors and institutions articulate, negotiate and reassert their specific claims within the peculiarities of each policy. A key conclusion of the book is that the politics of provisions remain essential to the right to food and that they involve unruliness. In other words, food riots work. The book explains how and why they continue to do so even in the globalized food system of the 21st century. Food riots signal a state unable to meet a principal condition of its social contract and create powerful pressure to address that most fundamental of failings.

The Rise of Africa's Small & Medium Size Enterprises Dr. Robin Renee Sanders, 2017-02-08 Ambassador Dr. Robin Renee Sanders' new book on The Rise of Africa's Small & Medium Size Enterprises (SMEs) is an insightful examination of the dramatic shift in the development paradigm for Sub-Saharan Africa, driven in large part by the imaginative, innovative and inspiring leadership of the region's small businesses or SMEs. SMEs have helped drive economic development, growth and aided in increasing the size of the Continent's middle class. Sanders says, "With the Introduction to the book by renowned civil rights leader Ambassador Andrew Young and the Foreword by Sub-Saharan Africa's leading businessman Mr. Aliko Dangote, Sanders' book credits the determination of Africa's SMEs and entrepreneurs which includes African nationals, immigrants and African Americans for stepping into the void left by 40 years of post-independence development approaches that had little impact on reducing overall poverty and creating jobs in the region. Africa's dynamic entrepreneurial spirit of Generation Xers and Millennials are and have formed SMEs and social enterprises that today are responsible for conceiving and inventing many of the new apps and answers to address the regions age old poverty issues Sanders emphasizes Africa SMEs are not only a key driver for jobs but serve as an additional catalyst to grow the middle class Sanders argues that it was the Rise of the Africa SME converging with technology and its mobility that has changed over the last decade the focus and direction of development in Sub Saharan Africa The book has a few vignettes from Sanders diplomatic life and work as CEO of the FEEEDS Advocacy Initiative with Africa SMEs over the years as well as regional examples of some of innovative things Africa entrepreneurs are doing in sectors ranging from agriculture and food security to energy and climate change The book also walks readers through what donors foundations and African stock markets are doing today to help in the SME space Sanders ends with recommendations of what more can be done by donors African governments and the new U S administration to further assist Africa SMEs particularly the group she calls the critical mass and those at the fragile end of Africas middle class International Financial Statistics, March 2012
