

3 The elements in Group 2, and their compounds, show many similarities and trends in their properties.

(a) Magnesium, calcium, strontium and barium all react with cold water.

(i) Describe what you would see when some calcium is added to cold water.

[3]

(ii) Write an equation for the reaction taking place in (i).

[1]

(iii) Describe how the reaction of barium with cold water would differ from the reaction of calcium in (i) in terms of what you would see.

[1]

(b) Magnesium oxide can be formed by the reaction of magnesium and oxygen in the air.

(i) Draw a fully labelled reaction pathway diagram for the reaction between magnesium and oxygen.

(ii) Explain why there is no visible reaction when a piece of magnesium ribbon is exposed to the air.

Cambridge IGCSE Mathematics Core and Extended Coursebook with CD-ROM Karen Morrison,Nick Hamshaw,2015-12-03 Revised edition of the IGCSE Mathematics Core and Extended Coursebook for the 0580 syllabus for examination from 2015

Validating Technological Innovation David Coniam,Peter Falvey,2016-04-02 This book discusses

Hong Kong s use of onscreen marking OSM in public examinations Given that Hong Kong leads the way in OSM innovation this book has arisen from a recognised need to provide a comprehensive coherent account of the findings of various separate but linked validation studies of onscreen public examinations in Hong Kong The authors discuss their experience of the validation process demonstrating how high stakes innovation should be fully validated by a series of research studies in order to satisfy key stakeholders

Survival October-November 2021: The Limits of Power The International Institute for Strategic Studies (IISS),2023-04-21 Survival the IISS s bimonthly journal challenges conventional wisdom and brings fresh often controversial perspectives on strategic issues of the moment In this issue Anatol Lieven argues that realist support for prudence and restraint in foreign policy does not equate to chauvinism isolationism and opposition to international cooperation Toby Dodge assesses that the United States attempt to comprehensively transform Afghanistan was based on its erroneous presumption that the liberal peacebuilding model was universally applicable Audrey Kurth Cronin contends that the logic of fighting terrorists far from the US homeland no longer holds as the US faces resource constraints and rising domestic terrorism Jens Ringsmose and Sten Rynning analyse the potential priorities and scope of NATO s next Strategic Concept and how it can bridge the Alliance s political military divide And eight more thought provoking pieces as well as our regular Book Reviews and Noteworthy column Editor Dr Dana Allin Managing Editor Jonathan Stevenson Associate Editor Carolyn West Assistant Editor Jessica Watson implementing the NGSS and changing their approach to science education. The new Framework and the NGSS are designed to guide educators in significantly altering the way K 12 science is taught. The Framework is aimed at making science education more closely resemble the way scientists actually work and think and making instruction reflect research on learning that demonstrates the importance of building coherent understandings over time. It structures science education around three dimensions the practices through which scientists and engineers do their work the key crosscutting concepts that cut across disciplines and the core ideas of the disciplines and argues that they should be interwoven in every aspect of science education building in sophistication as students progress through grades K 12. Developing Assessments for the Next Generation Science Standards recommends strategies for developing assessments that yield valid measures of student proficiency in science as described in the new Framework. This report reviews recent and current work in science assessment to determine which aspects of the Framework's vision can be assessed with available techniques and what additional research and development will be needed to support an assessment system that fully meets that vision. The report offers a systems approach to science assessment in which a range of assessment strategies are designed to answer different kinds of questions with appropriate degrees of specificity and provide results that complement one another. Developing Assessments for the Next Generation Science Standards makes the case that a science assessment system that meets the Framework's vision should consist of assessments designed to support classroom instruction assessments designed to monitor science learning on a broader scale and indicators designed to track opportunity to learn. New standards for science education make clear that new modes of assessment designed to measure the integrated learning they promote are essential. The recommendations of this report will be key to making sure that the dramatic changes in curriculum and instruction signaled by Framework and the NGSS reduce inequities in science education and raise the level of science education for all students.
