Where would we be without our forests? They provide us with countless benefits, such as oxygen, cleaner water, homes for wildlife, and a host of wood products. In fact, we couldn't survive for a single day without trees. Therefore, we must take good care of our forests so that they will continue to provide for future generations.

Life Cycle of a Forest

You are about to enter the Life Cycle of a Forest. Like us, all trees have a natural lifespan. This exhibit is designed to help you learn about the different life stages of a forest, and how foresters and other scientists can help to keep them healthy and productive.
