A Peoples History Of The New Boston

Everett, Laura E.

A Peoples History Of The New Boston:

A People's Guide to Greater Boston Joseph Nevins, Suren Moodliar, Eleni Macrakis, 2020 Herein we bring you to sites that have been central to the lives of the people of Greater Boston over four centuries You'll visit sites associated with the area's indigenous inhabitants and with the individuals and movements who sought to abolish slavery to end war challenge militarism and bring about a more peaceful world to achieve racial equity gender justice and sexual liberation and to secure the rights of workers We take you to some well known sites but more often to ones far off the well beaten path of the Freedom Trail to places in Boston's outlying neighborhoods We also visit sites in numerous other municipalities that make up the Greater Boston region from places such as Lawrence Lowell and Lynn to Concord and Plymouth The sites to which we do travel include homes given that people's struggles activism and organizing sometimes unfold or are even birthed in many cases in living rooms and kitchens Trying to capture a place as diverse and dynamic as Boston is highly challenging One could say that about any big place We thus want to make clear that our goal is not to be comprehensive or to do justice to the region Given the constraints of space and time as well as the limitations of knowledge both our own and what is available in published form there are many important sites cities and towns that we have not included Thus in exploring scores of sites across Boston and numerous municipalities our modest goal is to paint a suggestive portrait of the greater urban area that highlights its long contested nature In many ways we merely scratch the region's surface or many surfaces given the multiple layers that any one place embodies In writing about Greater Boston as a place we run the risk of suggesting that the city writ large has some sort of essence Indeed the very notion of a particular place assumes intrinsic characteristics and an associated delimited space After all how can one distinguish one place from another if it has no uniqueness and is not geographically differentiated Nonetheless geographer Doreen Massey insists that we conceive of places as progressive as flowing over the boundaries of any particular space time or society in other words we should see places as processual or ever changing as unbounded in that they shape and are shaped by other places and forces from without and as having multiple identities In exploring Greater Boston from many venues over 400 years we embrace this approach That said we have to reconcile this with the need to delimit Greater Boston for among other reasons simply to be in a position to name it and thus distinguish it from elsewhere

After the Projects Lawrence J. Vale, 2019 America is in the midst of a rental housing affordability crisis More than a quarter of those that rent their homes spend more than half of their income for housing even as city leaders across the United States have been busily dismantling the nation's urban public housing projects In After the Projects Lawrence Vale investigates the deeply rooted spatial politics of public housing development and redevelopment at a time when lower income Americans face a desperate struggle to find affordable rental housing in many cities Drawing on more than 200 interviews with public housing residents real estate developers and community leaders Vale analyzes the different ways in which four major American cities implemented the federal government's HOPE VI program for public housing transformation while also providing a national picture of this program. Some cities attempted to minimize the presence of the poorest residents in their new mixed income communities but other cities tried to serve as many low income households as possible. Through examining the social, political and economic forces that underlie housing displacement, Vale develops the novel concept of governance constellations. He shows how the stars align differently in each city depending on community pressures that have evolved in response to each city's past struggles with urban renewal. This allows disparate key players to gain prominence when implementing HOPE VI redevelopment. A much needed comparative approach to the existing research on public housing. After the Projects shines a light on the broad variety of attitudes towards public housing redevelopment in American cities and identifies ways to achieve more equitable processes and outcomes for low income Americans.

Holy Spokes Everett, Laura E., 2017. After Laura Everett's car died on the highway one rainy night, she made the utterly practical decision to start riding her bicycle to work through the streets of Boston. Seven years later, she's never looked back. Holy Spokes tells the story of Everett's unlikely conversion to urban cycling. As she pedaled her way into a new way of life, Everett discovered that her year round bicycle commuting wasn't just benefiting her body, her wallet and her environment. It was enriching her soul. Ride along with Everett through Holy Spokes as she explores the history of cycling, makes friends with a diverse and joyful community of fellow cyclists, gets up close and personal with the city she loves and begins to develop a deep, robust and distinctly urban spirituality.

Seven Social Movements That Changed America

Linda Gordon, 2025-03-04. A brilliantly conceived and provocative work from an award winning historian that examines how seven twentieth century social movements transformed America. How do social movements arise, wield power and bring about meaningful change? Renowned scholar Linda Gordon investigates these and other salient questions in this visionary, cautionary, timely and utterly necessary book. Nicole Eustace narrating how some of America's most influential twentieth century social movements transformed the nation. Beginning with the turn of the century settlement house movement, the book compares Chicago's celebrated Hull House, begun by privileged women, to a much less well known African American project, Cleveland's Phillis Wheatley House, begun by a former sharecropper. Expanding her highly praised book The Second Coming of the KKK, the second chapter shows how a northern Klan became a mass movement in the 1920s. Contrary to what many Klan opponents thought, this KKK was a middle class organization, its members primarily urban and well educated. In the 1930s, the KKK gave birth to dozens of American fascist groups, small but extremely violent. Profiles of two other 1930s movements follow: the Townsend campaign for old age insurance, named for its charismatic leader, Dr. Francis Townsend. It created the public pressure that brought us Social Security, which was considered radical at the time as was the movement to bring about federal unemployment aid for millions. Proceeding to the 1955-1956 Montgomery bus boycott, which jump started the career of Martin Luther King Jr, the narrative shows how the city's entire Black population refused to ride segregated buses initiated by Black women. Their years long hard fought victory inspired the civil rights movement. Gordon then examines the 1970s farmworkers struggle led by Cesar Chavez and made possible by the work of tens of thousands of the primarily Mexican American farmworkers Together they built the United Farm Workers Union winning better wages and working conditions for some of the country's poorest workers The book concludes with the dramatic stories of two Boston socialist feminist groups Bread and Roses and the Combahee River Collective which influenced the whole women's liberation movement Throughout the work Gordon concentrates not on ideologies but on how millions of grassroots activists strategized and changed the United States Separately and together these seven narratives bring to life the creativity and hard work of social movements and in doing so reveal how they have been central to American history in stories that reverberate with today's political activism A People's History of the New Boston Jim Vrabel,2014 Although Boston today is a vibrant and thriving city it was anything but that in the years following World War II By 1950 it had lost a quarter of its tax base over the previous twenty five years and during the 1950s it would lose residents faster than any other major city in the country Credit for the city's turnaround since that time is often given to a select group of people all of them men all of them white and most of them well off In fact a large group of community activists many of them women people of color and not very well off were also responsible for creating the Boston so many enjoy today This book provides a grassroots perspective on the tumultuous 1960s and 1970s when residents of the city's neighborhoods engaged in an era of activism and protest unprecedented in Boston since the American Revolution Using interviews with many of those activists contemporary news accounts and historical sources Jim Vrabel describes the demonstrations sit ins picket lines boycotts and contentious negotiations through which residents exerted their influence on the city that was being rebuilt around them He includes case histories of the fights against urban renewal highway construction and airport expansion for civil rights school desegregation and welfare reform and over Vietnam and busing He also profiles a diverse group of activists from all over the city including Ruth Batson Anna DeFronzo Moe Gillen Mel King Henry Lee and Paula Oyola Vrabel tallies the wins and losses of these neighborhood Davids as they took on the Goliaths of the time including Boston's mayors He shows how much of the legacy of that activism remains in Boston today The people's history of Cleveland and its vicinage George Markham Tweddell,1872 Young People's History of Our Country Edward Sylvester Ellis,1900 A History of New England R.
