Econometric Modeling David F. Hendry, Bent Nielsen, 2007 Econometric Modeling provides a new and stimulating introduction to econometrics focusing on modeling. The key issue confronting empirical economics is to establish sustainable relationships that are both supported by data and interpretable from economic theory. The unified likelihood based approach of this book gives students the required statistical foundations of estimation and inference and leads to a thorough understanding of econometric techniques. David Hendry and Bent Nielsen introduce modeling for a range of situations including binary data sets, multiple regression and cointegrated systems. In each setting a statistical model is constructed to explain the observed variation in the data with estimation and inference based on the likelihood function. Substantive issues are always addressed showing how both statistical and economic assumptions can be tested and empirical results interpreted. Important empirical problems such as structural breaks forecasting and model selection are covered and Monte Carlo simulation is explained and applied Econometric Modeling is a self contained introduction for advanced undergraduate or graduate students Throughout data illustrate and motivate the approach and are available for computer based teaching Technical issues from probability theory and statistical theory are introduced only as needed Nevertheless the approach is rigorous emphasizing the coherent formulation estimation and evaluation of econometric models relevant for empirical research

J. van Heerde, Peter S. H. Leeftang, Dick R. Wittink, Marketing Science Institute, 2002      Malaria & Poverty in Africa Augustin Kwasi Fosu, Germano M. Mwabu, 2007 Malaria is a serious health and economic problem in Africa afflicting more than half of the continent's population. Although HIV/AIDS, TB and nutritional deficiencies pose major development problems on the continent, the challenges presented by malaria are of a different kind because the disease is widespread, persistent and grossly underestimated by the general population. The importance of malaria along with HIV/AIDS and other diseases in the development agenda is now recognised in Goal 6 of the Millennium Goals. This book provides the evidence required to design and implement malaria control strategies in Africa. The chapters analyse the nexus between poverty and malaria with a focus on policies that can be implemented at various levels of society to fight the disease. Malaria and Poverty in Africa is the outcome of a research sponsored by the African Economic Research Consortium (AERC). Augustin Kwasi Fosu is the Director, Economic Division of the United Nations Commission for Africa, Addis Ababa, and former Director of Research at the AERC, Nairobi. Germano Mwabu is Professor of Economics at the University of Nairobi. He was co-director of the AERC project on Poverty, Income Distribution and Labour Markets in Sub-Saharan Africa.      Economic Integration, Fiscal Policy, and Location of Economic Activities: the Case of Mercosur Christian Volpe Martincus, 2004
