Determinants of Biodiversity, Ecosystem Functioning and Restoration in Climate Change Sensitive Ecosystems

Hui Zhang,Xiang Liu,Robert John,2023-11-27 Human activities such as agriculture and mining have led to serious negative effects on biodiversity and important ecosystem services including biodiversity loss and climate change Thus it is important to quantify the key determinants of biodiversity ecosystem functioning and ecological restoration of degraded plant communities in climate change sensitive ecosystems i e subalpine and alpine meadow communities in Qinghai tropical rainforests and tropical mountains In this way effective management policy and methods can be developed to reduce the influence of climate change on these climate change sensitive ecosystems The aforementioned human activities continue to destroy and degrade plant communities and ecosystem functioning Climatic changes further exacerbate negative impacts and may trigger rapid loss of species precipitate decline and changes in the flows of ecosystem goods and services As the collective anthropogenic influence intensifies some ecosystems may be more sensitive than others to these changes Ecosystems that contribute greatly to human well being through the delivery of biodiversity and ecosystem benefits should be the focus of particular concern There are key knowledge gaps on the specific nature of anthropogenic impacts species and ecosystem responses and possible management and mitigation measures Comprehensive documentation of these aspects from highly sensitive regions and ecosystems is urgently needed particularly at fine scales which is relevant for developing management and mitigation measures Pathways such as ecological restoration can offset some of the impacts but even quantifying the impacts of observed and anticipated changes is far from adequate and other mitigation measures must be considered Wildlife and Wind Farms - Conflicts and Solutions Martin Perrow,2017-05-02 Wind farms are an essential component of global renewable energy policy and the action to limit the effects of climate change There is however considerable concern over the impacts of wind farms on wildlife leading to a wide range of research and monitoring studies a growing body of literature and several international conferences on the topic This unique multi volume work provides a comprehensive overview of the interactions between wind farms and wildlife Volume 1 documents the current knowledge of the potential impacts upon wildlife during both construction and operation An introductory chapter on the nature of wind farms and the impact assessment process is followed by a series of in depth chapters documenting effects on climatic conditions vegetation terrestrial invertebrates aquatic invertebrates and fish reptiles and amphibians birds bats and terrestrial mammals A synopsis of the known and potential effects of wind farms upon wildlife in perspective concludes the volume The authors have been carefully selected from across the globe from the large number of academics consultants and practitioners now engaged in wind farm studies for their influential contribution to the science Edited by Martin Perrow and with contributions by 40 leading researchers including Robert Barclay Michael Dillon Jan Olof Helldin Hermann H tker Jeffrey Lovich Manuela de Lucas and Eugene Takle The authors represent a wide range of organisations and institutions including the Universities of Calgary Iowa State Lund Wyoming US Geological Survey Michael Otto Institut im NABU Norwegian Institute for Nature Research Spanish Council for Scientific Research Renewable Energy Systems and several leading consultancies Each chapter includes informative figures tables colour photographs and detailed case studies Many of the latter are produced stand alone from invited additional authors to ensure geographic spread and to showcase exciting new often previously unpublished research This book is designed for practitioners researchers managers and for a range of students in higher education particularly those involved with environmental ecological conservation impact assessment and climate change studies Other volumes Volume 2 Onshore Monitoring and Mitigation 978 1 78427 123 7 Volume 3 Offshore Potential Effects 978 1 78427 127 5 Volume 4 Offshore Monitoring and Mitigation 978 1 78427 131 2

Hybrid Solutions for the Modelling of Complex Environmental Systems Christian E. Vincenot, Stefano Mazzoleni, Lael Parrott, 2017-01-11 Systems studied in environmental science due to their structure and the heterogeneity of the entities composing them often exhibit complex dynamics that can only be captured by hybrid modeling approaches While several concurrent definitions of hybrid modeling can be found in the literature it is defined here broadly as the approach consisting in coupling existing modelling paradigms to achieve a more accurate or efficient representation of systems The need for hybrid models generally arises from the necessity to overcome the limitation of a single modeling technique in terms of structural flexibility capabilities or computational efficiency This book brings together experts in the field of hybrid modelling to demonstrate how this approach can address the challenge of representing the complexity of natural systems Chapters cover applied examples as well as modeling methodology
