An Educational Leader's Guide to Curriculum Mapping Janet A. Hale, Richard F. Dunlap, Jr., 2010-06-28 Curriculum mapping initiatives are started with the essential goal of improving student achievement yet the mapping process can be challenging to navigate or lead While the main work of curriculum mapping is conducted by classroom teachers administrators must be actively involved and they must also take into account the demands curriculum mapping places on teachers This book provides administrators with the foundational understandings and specific guidance and strategies to effectively support a curriculum mapping initiative in their schools and districts The authors discuss administrative leadership for curriculum mapping including the roles and responsibilities of various administrative positions such as the superintendent headteacher and curriculum director and provide protocols and procedures for writing administrative maps A Leader's Guide to Curriculum Mapping offers concrete information and suggestions for moving a curriculum mapping initiative forward in a positive manner and ultimately ensuring that curriculum mapping is not only sustained but is embedded in the cultural consciousness and becomes the natural way of conducting professional curriculum work throughout a learning organization The book includes brief but necessary coverage of theory and foundational concept Focuses on administrative leadership with curriculum design in mind and administrative support for systemic change Provides administrators with guidance protocols and step by step directions for the stages of a curriculum mapping initiative Offers practical applications realistic expectations and real life examples Addresses significant concerns such as time and resources necessary for sustainability

We're Born to Learn Rita Smilkstein, 2003 This author not only summarizes the theories and research regarding how the brain functions in the process of learning natural learning she also shows how she has continued to apply it in her own teaching and learning Robert Pinney Director Extension Teacher Education Programs Western Washington University This is an important and useful book readable practical and inspiring advice for the practicing teacher This is a great translation of theory into practice and Rita's stories of her own work are especially compelling Jean MacGregor National Learning Communities Project The Evergreen State College Olympia Washington This book is intended to make it possible for all students to realize their potential as natural learners It shows teachers how to make this possible not with attention getting activities that are more or less peripheral to the curriculum but with the curriculum itself Written for all teachers from K 12 through higher education as well as future educators this volume also provides information for parents students in general and everyone who wants to know how the brain learns Chapters Two and Three discuss two areas of research related to learning classroom field research and neuroscience research These two areas are brought together in Chapter Six leading to principles for developing brain compatible natural learning curricula for any subject at any level The author provides examples of classroom proven applications of the theory and Chapters Eight and Nine using guidelines and models show how this research based theory can be applied to the development of curricula for any classroom Examples of how to develop lesson plans and curricula for a unit course or program will be useful for teachers in all subjects Becoming a Better Teacher Giselle O.
