Bad to the Bone Steven Barrett, Jason Kridner, 2022-06-01 BeagleBone Black is a low cost open hardware computer uniquely suited to interact with sensors and actuators directly and over the Web. Introduced in April 2013 by BeagleBoard.org a community of developers first established in early 2008. BeagleBone Black is used frequently to build vision enabled robots, home automation systems, artistic lighting systems and countless other do it yourself and professional projects. BeagleBone variants include the original BeagleBone and the newer BeagleBone Black both hosting a powerful 32 bit super scalar ARM Cortex A8 processor capable of running numerous mobile and desktop capable operating systems typically variants of Linux including Debian, Android and Ubuntu. Yet BeagleBone is small enough to fit in a small mint tin box. The Bone may be used in a wide variety of projects from middle school science fair projects to senior design projects to first prototypes of very complex systems. Novice users may access the power of the Bone through the user friendly BoneScript software experienced through a Web browser in most major operating systems including Microsoft Windows, Apple Mac OS X or the Linux operating systems. Seasoned users may take full advantage of the Bone's power using the underlying Linux based operating system, a host of feature extension boards, Capes and a wide variety of Linux community open source libraries. This book provides an introduction to this powerful computer and has been designed for a wide variety of users including the first time novice through the seasoned embedded system design professional. The book contains background theory on system operation coupled with many well documented illustrative examples. Examples for novice users are centered on motivational fun robot projects while advanced projects follow the theme of assistive technology and image processing applications.

Unsettled Issues in Commercial Vehicle Platooning Jody Emlyn Muelaner, 2021-11-15 While platooning has the potential to reduce energy consumption of commercial vehicles while improving safety, both advantages are currently difficult to quantify due to insufficient data and the wide range of variables affecting models. Platooning will significantly reduce the use of energy when compared to trucks driven alone or at a safe distance for a driver without any automated assistance. However, drivers typically drive closer to each other than recommended to achieve drafting efficiencies which may shift the benefit of automated platooning to safety gains. More data will be needed to conclusively demonstrate these gains. Unsettled Issues in Commercial Vehicle Platooning discusses the technologies needed to enable close platooning including brake system condition monitoring, vehicle to vehicle communication and concrete infrastructure assessment. The report also looks at driver acceptance of platooning technology from a safety and job security perspective. legibility index LI which is the legibility distance divided by the legend height A detailed table of previous research is provided in LI values for cross comparison Similar to previous research there were mean LI values in some instances for Enhanced E Modified and Clearview 5W that were larger than E Modified however none of them were statistically significant
The only statistically significant differences reported were with respect to subject age e g 18 35 and 65 and day versus night and at night within Clearview 5W with respect to legend type The mean LI were 68 9 and 45 2 for 18 35 versus 65 participants in the daytime condition respectively and 50 2 and 36 4 for 18 35 versus 65 participants in the nighttime condition respectively It was shown that the cost to implement Clearview 5W would be more expensive than E Modified so it was recommended that future research focus on evaluating Clearview 5WR
