Mathematical Models of Tumor-Immune System Dynamics Amina Eladdadi, Peter Kim, Dann Mallet, 2014-11-06 This collection of papers offers a broad synopsis of state of the art mathematical methods used in modeling the interaction between tumors and the immune system These papers were presented at the four day workshop on Mathematical Models of Tumor Immune System Dynamics held in Sydney Australia from January 7th to January 10th 2013 The workshop brought together applied mathematicians biologists and clinicians actively working in the field of cancer immunology to share their current research and to increase awareness of the innovative mathematical tools that are applicable to the growing field of cancer immunology Recent progress in cancer immunology and advances in immunotherapy suggest that the immune system plays a fundamental role in host defense against tumors and could be utilized to prevent or cure cancer Although theoretical and experimental studies of tumor immune system dynamics have a long history there are still many unanswered questions about the mechanisms that govern the interaction between the immune system and a growing tumor The multidimensional nature of these complex interactions requires a cross disciplinary approach to capture more realistic dynamics of the essential biology The papers presented in this volume explore these issues and the results will be of interest to graduate students and researchers in a variety of fields within mathematical and biological sciences Readings and Cases in
