EU-Russian Relations and the Ukraine Crisis Nicholas Ross Smith, 2016-12-30 This book assesses the competitive and contentious EU Russia relationship in relation to Ukraine from 2010 to 2013 focusing on the important areas of trade energy and security The key issue explored is whether this relationship played any meaningful role in the deterioration of the situation in Ukraine since late 2013

EU-Russian Energy Relations Dimo Böhme, 2011 Public debate about energy relations between the EU and Russia is distorted These distortions present considerable obstacles to the development of true partnership At the core of the conflict is a struggle for resource rents between energy producing energy consuming and transit countries Supposed secondary aspects however are also of great importance They comprise of geopolitics market access economic development and state sovereignty The European Union having engaged in energy market liberalisation faces a widening gap between declining domestic resources and continuously growing energy demand Diverse interests inside the EU prevent the definition of a coherent and respected energy policy Russia for its part is no longer willing to subsidise its neighbouring economies by cheap energy exports The Russian government engages in assertive policies pursuing Russian interests In so far it opts for a different globalisation approach refusing the role of mere energy exporter In view of the intensifying struggle for global resources Russia with its large energy potential appears to be a very favourable option for European energy supplies if not the best one However several outcomes of the strategic game between the two partners can be imagined Engaging in non cooperative strategies will in the end leave all stakeholders worse off The European Union should therefore concentrate on securing its partnership with Russia instead of damaging it Stable cooperation would need the acceptance that the partner may pursue his own goals which might be different from one's own interests The question is how can a sustainable compromise be found This thesis finds that a mix of continued dialogue a tit for tat approach bolstered by an international institutional framework and increased integration efforts appears as a preferable solution

Perspectives on EU-Russian Relations Debra Johnson, Paul F. Robinson, Paul Robinson, 2005 This book explains how the internal dynamics of transition have influenced the relationship between Russia and the EU Taking an holistic approach the authors present a balanced analysis exploring EU Russian and US perspectives on the Russian EU relationship and examine a range of political economic business and security issues including the Northern dimension of Russian EU relations the Chechen situation Russian domestic economic policy trade the business environment energy and EU technical assistance They also address such questions as Will bilateral relations be achieved with a Western or Russian model Who is the main driver of Russian EU relations Is Russia converging with the EU in terms of business culture legal environment and systems Does the Russian EU link provide a new model for EU external relations

Partnership: A New Opportunity for the Neighbours? Elena Korosteleva,2014-01-02 This volume offers a collective assessment of the development and impact of the European Neighbourhood Policy and the Eastern Partnership Initiative on its eastern neighbours Belarus Ukraine and Moldova in particular with Russia s added perspective Founded on extensive empirical and conceptual research the volume uniquely bridges the perspectives of all parties across the EU s eastern border in an attempt to understand advantages and problems related to the effective implementation of the EU policies in the eastern region The undertaken research points to the prevalence of the top down and conditional governance approach in EU treatment of the outsiders which is not only Eurocentric and prescriptive in nature but also falls short of the declared partnership principles Without the understanding of partners internal dilemmas and needs which could only be achieved through the equivalence and reciprocity of partnership the EU would struggle to make the policy effective and legitimate in the region and to buttress its reputation as a credible force for good on the international arena This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of Communist Studies and Transition Politics Parliamentary Debates (Hansard).
