A Question Of Honour:

A Question of Honour Emma Drummond, 1991 A Question of Honour Ethel Winifred Savi, 1937 Lord Rosebery's Speeches (1874-1896) Archibald Philip Primrose Earl of Rosebery, 1896 "The" Fortnightly Review, 1885 The Dublin University Magazine, 1875 International Arbitration John Hyde, 1873 Brutus' Role in Shakespeare's Julius Caesar Anne Decker, 2013-11-11 Seminar paper from the year 2012 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Literature grade 1.7 University of Münster course Shakespeare The Roman Plays language English abstract Upon reading Shakespeare's The Tragedy of Julius Caesar one would agree that Marcus Brutus is the character which at first glance appears to be most likeable Honour as value is something that turns up frequently throughout the play especially with regard to Brutus Being the one that murders a friend in order to free the people from tyranny he acts according to his personal conception of honour It is not without facing an inner conflict that he decides to put aside his personal feelings of friendship in order to serve the common good This is what one could say about Brutus if matters were as clear as that On closer inspection however one quickly takes notice of discrepancies as to Brutus character and actions Carrie Pestrutto states that Brutus's honour gives him an almost Christ like aura whereas others see him as ambiguous and his character as not to be defined unequivocally The idea of honour can be interpreted in many different ways and the characters understanding of honour differ immensely Caesar was ambitious and Brutus is an honourable man 3.2.79.88 Are things really as simple as that Kullmann referring to Pestrutto here poses a question that will be discussed in this paper The focus is to be on Brutus and his view of the events evaluating his actions and the reasoning they are based on It will be possible to see that his only way of coming to a decision and carrying out the assassination is by means of self delusion To open himself up to and reconcile with the idea of committing a murder he has to construct his own fiction ending up living in a fool's paradise For him the way things appear to be weighs down what they are in reality Important in the above mentioned context is Brutus part in the conspiracy which is going to be worked out in detail Since the question of honour is such an essential factor it is necessary to clarify the fact that there are various ways of defining honour and accordingly each character has their own sense of honour Gradually Brutus is dragged into the conspiracy a process on the basis of which we are able to learn a lot about his character and his moral concepts Parliamentary Debates (Hansard) New Zealand. Parliament, 1890 Parliamentary Debates New Zealand. Parliament, 1887 The Draper's Record, 1890 The Military Covenant Sarah Ingham, 2016-03-03 The Military Covenant states that in exchange for their military service and their willingness to make the ultimate sacrifice soldiers should receive the nation's support Exploring the concept's invention by the Army in the late 1990s its migration to the civilian sphere from 2006 and its subsequent entrenchment in public policy Ingham seeks to understand the Covenant's progress from the esoteric confines of Army doctrine to national recognition Drawing on interviews with senior commanders policy makers and representatives of Forces charities this study highlights how the Army deployed the Military Covenant to convey the pressure on the institution caused by the concurrent combat operations in Iraq and Afghanistan While achieving a better deal for soldiers whose sacrifice became all too apparent the Military Covenant licensed unprecedented incursion into politics by senior commanders enabling them to out manoeuvre the Blair Brown governments and to challenge the existing norms within Britain s civil military relationship As British Forces prepare to leave Afghanistan this study considers the value Britain accords to military service and whether civilian society will continue to uphold its Covenant with those who have served the nation
