

Figurative Language

Figurative language is a tool that an author uses, to help the reader visualize, or see, what is happening in a story or poem.

Types of Figurative Language

Simile is a comparison using like or as. It usually compares two unlike objects.
Example: His feet are as big as trees. Feet and trees are being compared.

Metaphor states that one thing is something else. It is a comparison, but does NOT use like or as to make the comparison.
Example: Her hair is silk. Hair and silk are being compared.

Personification is giving human qualities, feelings, actions, or characteristics to inanimate (not living) objects.
Example: The forest started at me with burning eyes. The verb, started, is a human action. A forest is a non-living object. Therefore, we have a good example of personification.

Example: The wicked cat growled low first year. The verb, _____, is a human action. A _____, is a non-living thing.

Alliteration is the repetition of the initial consonant. There should be at least two repetitions in a row.

Example: Peter Piper picked a peck of pickled peppers. The first letter, p, is a consonant. It would be repeated many times.

Oxymoronic is the combination of two words usually in opposit forms. These words bring us both mental pictures, or visualization, things, people, or places that are almost dead. Oxymoronic is used humor, or to help us achieve by making the words.

Example: Dead? Not Dead.

Symbolism occurs when one thing stands for or represents something else.

Example: The dove symbolizes peace.

Hyperbole is intentionally exaggerated figures of speech.

Example: It was raining cats and dogs.

Imagery involves one or more of your five senses - the ability to hear, taste, touch, smell, and see. An author uses a word or phrase to stimulate your memory of these senses and to help create mental pictures.

Idioms An expression that means something other than the literal meanings of its individual words. They are overused expressions.
