Climate Change 2022 - Impacts, Adaptation and Vulnerability Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC), 2023-06-22. The Working Group II contribution to the Sixth Assessment Report of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change. IPCC provides a comprehensive assessment of the scientific literature relevant to climate change impacts, adaptation, and vulnerability. The report recognizes the interactions of climate, ecosystems, and biodiversity, and human societies, and integrates across the natural, ecological, social, and economic sciences. It emphasizes how efforts in adaptation and in reducing greenhouse gas emissions can come together in a process called climate resilient development, which enables a liveable future for biodiversity and humankind. The IPCC is the leading body for assessing climate change science. IPCC reports are produced in comprehensive, objective, and transparent ways, ensuring they reflect the full range of views in the scientific literature. Novel elements include focused topical assessments and an atlas presenting observed climate change impacts and future risks from global to regional scales. A Green and Permanent Land Randal S. Beeman, James A. Pritchard, 2001. Once patronized primarily by the counterculture and the health food establishment, the organic food industry today is a multi-billion dollar business driven by ever-growing consumer demand for safe food and greater public awareness of ecological issues. Assumed by many to be a recent phenomenon, that industry owes much to agricultural innovations that go back to the Dust Bowl era. This book explores the roots and branches of alternative agricultural ideas in twentieth century America showing how ecological thought has challenged and changed agricultural theory practice and policy from the 1930s to the present It introduces us to the people and institutions who forged alternatives to industrialized agriculture through a deep concern for the enduring fertility of the soil a passionate commitment to human health and a strong advocacy of economic justice for farmers Randal Beeman and James Pritchard show that agricultural issues were central to the rise of the environmental movement in the United States As family farms failed during the Depression a new kind of agriculture was championed based on the holistic approach taught by the emerging science of ecology Ecology influenced the permanent agriculture movement that advocated such radical concepts as long term land use planning comprehensive soil conservation and organic farming Then in the 1970s sustainable agriculture combined many of these ideas with new concerns about misguided technology and an over consumptive culture to preach a more sensible approach to farming In chronicling the overlooked history of alternative agriculture A Green and Permanent Land records the significant contributions of individuals like Rex Tugwell Hugh Bennett Louis Bromfield Edward Faulkner Russell and Kate Lord Scott and Helen Nearing Robert Rodale Wes Jackson and groups like Friends of the Land and the Practical Farmers of Iowa And by demonstrating how agriculture also remains central to the public interest especially in the face of climatic crises genetically altered crops and questionable uses of pesticides this book puts these issues in historical perspective and offers readers considerable food for thought
