

- What day is my biology midterm exam? _____
- What time is my biology midterm exam? _____

- What is going to be on the midterm exam?

The exam will ask questions about topics you have learned for the 1st and 2nd marking periods. Expect to see questions about the following topics:

- Scientific Method
- The Cell & Microscope
- Cellular Energy (Photosynthesis & Cellular Respiration)
- Enzymes
- DNA
- Human Impacts on the Environment

- How is the test organized? What type of questions should I expect?

The midterm exam will consist of two parts, and is worth a total of 125 points.

Part I (known as the "core") will be worth 75 points and consist of 75 multiple choice questions. This part of the test was created by all of the biology teachers of the science department.

Part II (known as the "addendum") will be worth 50 points and contain short answer questions and some multiple choice. This part of the exam is created by just your teacher.

- How will this review packet help me study for the midterm exam?

You have learned many details of biology so far this school year, the midterm will not cover every little detail. This packet will let know you what specific vocabulary words and biology topics will be asked on the midterm exam.

- How will the midterm exam be calculated into my grade?

Your midterm exam score will count towards 10% of your overall biology grade. Your overall grade will be calculated at the end of the school year. Here is the breakdown:

1st MP = 20%
 2nd MP = 20%
 Midterm Exam = 10%
 3rd MP = 20%
 4th MP = 20%
 Final Exam = 10%

- How can I study smarter instead of longer?

- Cramming & all-nighters can negatively affect your memory. Study sessions are best as repeated small chunks (20-30 minutes). Set a goal on what you want to study during each session, focus on one topic.
- Study flash cards. Use Quizlet or make your own.
- Teach the topic you have just studied to someone else (friend, parent, sibling, etc). Your brain will organize the information in a more logical and coherent manner. If you can't find someone, you can always talk out loud and teach to yourself.
- Have a designated place for studying. Somewhere with minimal distraction. Make sure it has everything you will need to help you study. If your home or bedroom is distracting consider going to the public library. They have quiet study rooms that you can request to use.
- Avoid listening to your favorite music, classical music is okay.
- Put away your phone!!!! Give it to someone so you are not tempted to check notifications and updates.
