The World of the Seafarer Victor Oyaro Gekara, Helen Sampson, 2020-12-03 This open access book constitutes an ethnographic mosaic which depicts the contextual complexities of the life and work of seafarers who are employed in the international merchant cargo fleet The collection is based upon the observations and interviews of researchers in multiple disciplines It is woven together to offer a richly detailed insight into the ways in which a complex global industry operates internationally The book covers issues to do with career decisions and recruitment gender life and work on board multinational vessels health and safety issues the regulation of the industry shipboard roles and role conflict and the representation of workers It will be of considerable interest to all students globally who are studying for professional seafaring qualifications to graduate students studying for masters courses in ship and port management and to welfare professionals and policy makers It is of special interest to those connected to the shipping industry who specialize in issues relating to the human element and will serve as a paradigm defining text in this area Lives in Peril D. Walters, N. Bailey, 2013-09-30 Lives in Peril demonstrates how and why seafarers are a vulnerable group of workers It argues they are made so by the organisation and structure of their employment the prioritisation of profit over safety by the actors that engage and control their labour the limits of enforcement of the regulatory framework that is in place to protect them and by their weakness as collective actors in relation to capital The consequences of this vulnerability are seen in data on their occupationally related morbidity and mortality evidence that probably only represents a partial picture of the actual extent of the physical mental and emotional harm resulting from work at sea This volume s central argument is that this situation is likely to remain broadly unchanged as long as global maritime governance and regulation remains in thrall to the neo liberal economic and political arguments that drive globalisation and fails to enforce regulatory standards more robustly
