NAEP 1992 Reading Report Card for the Nation and the States Ina V. S. Mullis, 1993 The National Assessment of Educational Progress NAEP 1992 reading assessment was administered to nationally representative samples of fourth eighth and twelfth grade students attending public and private schools and to state representative public school samples of fourth graders in 43 jurisdictions. Nearly 140 000 students were assessed in all. Data were summarized on the NAEP reading proficiency scale ranging from 0 to 500 and results were reported according to three achievement levels at each grade: basic, proficient and advanced. Major findings were that 1 59% of the fourth graders, 69% of eighth graders and 75% of twelfth graders reached the basic level or beyond. 2 25% 28% and 37% of grade 4 8 and 12 students met or exceeded the proficient level respectively. 3 From 2% to 4% of students at any of the grade levels achieved the advanced performance level 4. Fourth graders within the basic level generally understood simple narratives. 5 Eighth graders reading within the basic level demonstrated literal understanding of passages. 6 Twelfth graders within the basic level were able to interpret aspects of the passages they read and make connections between their reading and their own knowledge. 7 Students attending private schools had higher average reading proficiency than students at public schools. 8 Considerable variation in performance existed within and across participating states. 9 Females had higher average reading proficiency than males at all three grade levels and 10 fourth graders appeared to be learning reading through varied instructional approaches. Contains 67 tables and 9 figures of data, a detailed description of anchoring the achievement levels, an overview of procedures, state contextual background factors and reading passages are attached.

RS Evaluation of the Voluntary National Tests National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Board on Testing and Assessment, 1998-08-31

In his 1997 State of the Union address, President Clinton announced a federal initiative to develop tests of 4th grade reading and 8th grade mathematics that would provide reliable information about student performance at two key points in their educational careers. According to the U.S. Department of Education, the Voluntary National Tests (VNT) would create a catalyst for continued school improvement by focusing parental and community wide attention on achievement and would become new tools to hold school systems accountable for their students' performance. The National Assessment Governing Board (NAGB) has responsibility for development of the VNT. Congress recognized that a testing program of the scale and magnitude of the VNT initiative raises many important technical questions and requires quality control throughout development and implementation. In P.L. 105-78, Congress called on the National Research Council (NRC) to evaluate a series of technical issues pertaining to the validity of test items, the validity of proposed links between the VNT and the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP), plans for the accommodation and inclusion of students with disabilities and English language learners, plans for reporting test information to parents and the public, and potential uses of the tests. This report covers phase 1 of the evaluation, November 1997–July 1998, and focuses on three principal issues: test specifications and frameworks.
