Baum, 1912 Aunt Jane's Nieces at Work Lyman Frank Baum, 2006 Aunt Jane's Nieces L. Frank Baum, 2016-01-19 Chapter I BETH RECEIVES AN INVITATION Professor De Graf was sorting the mail at the breakfast table Here's a letter for you Beth said he and tossed it across the cloth to where his daughter sat The girl raised her eyebrows expressing surprise It was something unusual for her to receive a letter She picked up the square envelope between a finger and thumb and carefully read the inscription Miss Elizabeth De Graf Cloverton Ohio Turning the envelope she found on the reverse flap a curious armorial emblem with the word Elmhurst Then she glanced at her father her eyes big and somewhat startled in expression The Professor was deeply engrossed in a letter from Benjamin Lowenstein which declared that a certain note must be paid at maturity His weak watery blue eyes stared rather blankly from behind the gold rimmed spectacles His flat nostrils extended and compressed like those of a frightened horse and the indecisive mouth was tremulous At the best the Professor was not an imposing personage He wore a dressing gown of soiled quilted silk and linen not too immaculate but his little sandy moustache and the goatee that decorated his receding chin were both carefully waxed into sharp points an indication that he possessed at least one vanity

Dyne, 2019-12-26 Aunt Jane's Nieces is the title of a juvenile novel published in 1906 and written by L Frank Baum under the pen name Edith Van Dyne Since the book was the first in a series of novels designed for adolescent girls its title was applied to the entire series of ten books published between 1906 and 1918 The novel is genuinely original and interesting It focuses on three adolescent girls two of whom combine basic good character with ugly traits not usually found in fiction for young girls Baum starts with a trite situation that could occasion prosy moralizing and gives it several original twists The rest of the novels in the series feature travel adventures accidents a kidnapping and rescue romances and a marriage for Louise The final novel Aunt Jane's Nieces in the Red Cross was originally published in 1915 Aunt Jane's Nieces at Work Baum L Frank (Lyman Frank),2016-06-21 Unlike some other reproductions of classic texts 1 We have not used OCR Optical Character Recognition as this leads to bad quality books with introduced typos 2 In books where there are images such as portraits maps sketches etc We have endeavoured to keep the quality of these images so they represent accurately the original artefact Although occasionally there may be certain imperfections with these old texts we feel they deserve to be made available for future generations to enjoy Aunt Jane's Nieces at Work Book 5 Large Print L. Daddy said Patricia Doyle at the breakfast table in her cosy New York apartment here is something that will make you sit up and take notice My dear Patsy was the reply it's already sitting up I am an taking waffles If anything at all would make me take notice it's your own pretty phiz Major remarked Uncle John helping himself to waffles from a fresh plate Nora brought in you Irish are such confirmed flatterers that you flatter your own daughters Patsy isn't at all pretty this morning She's too red and freckled Patsy laughed and her blue eyes danced That comes from living on your old farm at Millville she retorted We've only been back three days and the sunburn sticks to me like a burr to a kitten Pay no attention to the ould rascal Patsy advised the Major composedly An stop wavin that letter like a white flag of surrender Who's it from Kenneth Aha An how is our lad Why he's got himself into a peck of trouble That's what I want to talk to you and Uncle John about she replied her happy face growing as serious as it could ever become Can't he wiggle out asked Uncle John Out of what His trouble It seems not Listen Oh tell us about it lassie said the Major If I judge right there's some sixty pages in that epistle Don't bother to read it again But every word is important declared Patsy turning the letter over except the last page with a swift flush Uncle John laughed His shrewd old eyes saw everything Then read us the last page my dear I'll tell you about it said Patsy quickly It's this way you see Kenneth has gone into politics Aunt Jane's Nieces and Uncle L. Frank Baum,2016-01-19 INTRODUCING MUMBLES Major Gregory Doyle paced nervously up and down the floor of the cosy sitting room Something's surely happened to our Patsy he exclaimed A little man with a calm face and a bald head who was seated near the fire continued to read his newspaper and paid no attention to the outburst Something has happened to Patsy repeated the Major Patsy meaning his own and only daughter Patricia Something is always happening to everyone said the little man turning his paper indifferently Something is happening to me for I can't find the rest of this article Something is happening to you for you're losing your temper I'm not sir I deny it As for Patsy continued the other she is sixteen years old and knows New York like a book The girl is safe enough Then where is she Tell me that sir Here it is seven o'clock dark as pitch and raining hard and Patsy is never out after six Can you John Merrick sit there like a lump o' putty and do nothing when your niece and my own darlin Patsy is lost or strayed or stolen     Aunt Jane's Nieces at Work (Classic Reprint) L. Aunt Jane's Nieces at Work Edith Van Dyne,2017-07-15 The classic book has always read again and again What is the classic book Why is the classic book READ READ READ then you'll know it's excellence     Aunt Jane's Nieces out West L. Frank Baum,2020-09-28 Chapter I CAUGHT BY THE CAMERA This is getting to be an amazing old world said a young girl still in her teens as she musingly leaned her chin on her hand It has always been an amazing old world Beth said another girl who was sitting on the porch railing and swinging her feet in the air True Patsy was the reply but the people are doing such peculiar things nowadays Yes yes exclaimed a little man who occupied a reclining chair within hearing distance that is the way with you young folks always confounding the world with its people Don't the people make the world Uncle John asked Patricia Doyle looking at him quizzically No indeed the world could get along very well without its people but the people To be sure they need the world laughed Patsy her blue eyes twinkling so that they glorified her plain freckled face Nevertheless said Beth de Graf soberly I think the people have struck a rapid pace these days and are growing bold and impudent The law appears to allow them too much liberty After our experience of this morning I shall not be surprised at anything that happens especially in this cranky state of California To what experience do you allude Beth asked Uncle John sitting up straight and glancing from one to another of his two nieces He was a genial looking round faced man quite bald and inclined to be a trifle stout yet his fifty odd years sat lightly upon him Why we had quite an adventure this morning said Patsy laughing again at the recollection and answering her uncle because Beth hesitated to For my part I think it was fun and harmless fun at that but Beth was scared out of a year's growth I admit feeling a little creepy at the time myself but it was all a joke and really we ought not to mind it at all Tell me all about it my dear said Mr Merrick earnestly for whatever affected his beloved nieces was of prime importance to him     Aunt Jane's Nieces on Vacation L. Frank Baum,2016-01-19 Chapter I THE HOBO AT CHAZY JUNCTION Mr Judkins the station agent at Chazy Junction came out of his little house at daybreak shivered a bit in the chill morning air and gave an involuntary start as he saw a private car on the sidetrack There were two private cars to be exact a sleeper and a baggage car and Mr Judkins knew the three o'clock train must have left them as it passed through Ah said he aloud the nabobs hev arrove Who are the nabobs asked a quiet voice beside him Again Mr Judkins started he even stepped back a pace to get a better view of the stranger who had approached so stealthily through the dim light that the agent was unaware of his existence until he spoke Who be you he demanded eyeing the man suspiciously Never mind who I am retorted the other in a grumpy tone the original question is who are the nabobs See here young feller this ain t no place fer tramps observed Mr Judkins frowning with evident displeasure Chazy Junction s got all it kin do to support its reg lar inhabitants You ll hev to move on The stranger sat down on a baggage truck and eyed the private car reflectively He wore a rough gray suit baggy and threadbare a flannel shirt with an old black tie carelessly knotted at the collar a brown felt hat with several holes in the crown and coarse cowhide shoes that had arrived at the last stages of usefulness You would judge him to be from twenty five to thirty years of age you would note that his face was browned from exposure that it was rather set and expressionless but in no way repulsive His eyes dark and retrospective were his most redeeming feature yet betrayed little of their owner s character Mr Judkins could make nothing of the fellow beyond the fact that he was doubtless a tramp and on that account most unwelcome in this retired neighborhood

Jane's Nieces at Millville L. Frank Baum,2016-01-19 Chapter I UNCLE JOHN S FARM How did I happen to own a farm asked Uncle John interrupting his soup long enough to fix an inquiring glance upon Major Doyle who sat opposite By virtue of circumstance my dear sir replied the Major composedly It s a part of my duty in attending to those affairs you won t look afther yourself to lend certain sums of your money to needy and ambitious young men who want a start in life Oh Uncle Do you do that exclaimed Miss Patricia Doyle who sat between her uncle and father and kept an active eye upon both So the Major says answered Uncle John dryly And it s true asserted the other He s assisted three or four score young men to start in business in the last year to my certain knowledge by lending them sums ranging from one to three thousand dollars And it s the most wasteful and extravagant charity I ever heard of But I m so glad cried Patsy clapping her hands with a delighted gesture It s a splendid way to do good to help young men to get a start in life Without capital you know many a young fellow would never get his foot on the first round of the ladder

Aunt Jane's Nieces in Society L. Frank Baum,2016-01-19 Chapter

I UNCLE JOHN S DUTY You re not doing your duty by those girls John Merrick The gentleman at whom this assertion was flung in a rather angry tone did not answer his sister in law He sat gazing reflectively at the pattern in the rug and seemed neither startled nor annoyed Mrs Merrick a pink cheeked middle aged lady attired in an elaborate morning gown knitted her brows severely as she regarded the chubby little man opposite then suddenly remembering that the wrinkles might leave their dreadful mark on her carefully rolled and massaged features she banished them with a pass of her ringed hand and sighed dismally It would not have mattered especially had the poor children been left in their original condition of friendless poverty she said They were then like a million other girls content to struggle for a respectable livelihood and a doubtful position in the lower stratas of social communion But you interfered You came into their lives abruptly appearing from those horrid Western wilds with an amazing accumulation of money and a demand that your three nieces become your special prot

g es And what is the result The little man looked up with a charming smile of good humored raillery His keen gray eyes sparkled as mischievously as a schoolboy s Softly he rubbed the palms of his hands together as if enjoying the situation

Aunt Jane's Nieces at Work Edith Van Dyne,2017-07-15 Classic Book Hall of Frame     Aunt Jane's Nieces in Society Edith Van Dyne,2014-02-01 After Louisa May Alcott s Little Women proved to be a publishing sensation other book purveyors sought out titles with similar appeal The Aunt Jane s Nieces series was designed to hook young audiences who first fell for Alcott s work In Aunt Jane s Nieces in Society the girls make their debut among the affluent upper classes and find that high society living is not all it s cracked up to be     Aunt Jane's Nieces Abroad L. Frank Baum,2016-01-19 Chapter I THE DOYLES ARE ASTONISHED It was Sunday afternoon in Miss Patricia Doyle s pretty flat at 3708 Willing Square In the small drawing room Patricia or Patsy as she preferred to be called was seated at the piano softly playing the one piece the music teacher had succeeded in drilling into her flighty head by virtue of much patience and perseverance In a thick cushioned morris chair reclined the motionless form of Uncle John a chubby little man in a gray suit whose features were temporarily eclipsed by the newspaper that was spread carefully over them Occasionally a gasp or a snore from beneath the paper suggested that the little man was snoozing as he sometimes gravely called it instead of listening to the music Major Doyle sat opposite stiffly erect with his admiring eyes full upon Patsy At times he drummed upon the arms of his chair in unison with the music nodding his grizzled head to mark the time as well as to emphasize his evident approbation Patsy had played this same piece from start to finish seven times since dinner because it was the only one she knew but the Major could have listened to it seven hundred times without the flicker of an eyelash It was not that he admired so much the piece the girl was playing as the girl who was playing the piece His pride in Patsy was unbounded That she should have succeeded at all in mastering that imposing looking instrument making it actually play chunes was surely a thing to wonder at But then Patsy could do anything if she but tried     Aunt Jane's Nieces in the Red Cross L. Frank Baum,2016-01-19 Chapter I THE ARRIVAL OF THE BOY What s the news Uncle asked Miss Patricia Doyle as she entered the cosy breakfast room of a suite of apartments in Willing Square Even as she spoke she pecked a little kiss on the forehead of the chubby man addressed as Uncle none other if you please than the famous and eccentric multi millionaire known in Wall Street as John Merrick and sat down to pour the coffee There was energy in her method of doing this simple duty an indication of suppressed vitality that conveyed the idea that here was a girl accustomed to action And she fitted well into the homely scene short and somewhat squatly of form red haired freckle faced and pug nosed Wholesome rather than beautiful was Patsy Doyle but if you caught a glimpse of her dancing blue eyes you straightway forgot her lesser charms Quite different was the girl who entered the room a few minutes later Hers was a dark olive complexion face of exquisite contour great brown eyes with a wealth of hair to match them and the flush of a rose in her rounded cheeks The poise of her girlish figure was gracious and dignified as the bearing of a queen Morning Cousin Beth said Patsy cheerily Good morning my dear and then with a trace of anxiety in her tone What is the news Uncle John The little man had ignored Patsy s first question but now he answered absently his eyes still fixed upon the newspaper Why they re going to build another huge skyscraper on Broadway at Eleventh and I see the political pot is beginning to bubble all through the Bronx although Stuff and nonsense Uncle exclaimed Patsy Beth asked for news not for gossip
