Emma Jane Austen,2020-02-29 The evil of the actual disparity in their ages and Mr Woodhouse had not married early was much increased by his constitution and habits for having been a valetudinarian all his life without activity of mind or body he was a much older man in ways than in years and though everywhere beloved for the friendliness of his heart and his amiable temper his talents could not have recommended him at any time Her sister though comparatively but little removed by matrimony being settled in London only sixteen miles off was much beyond her daily reach and many a long October and November evening must be struggled through at Hartfield before Christmas brought the next visit from Isabella and her husband and their little children to fill the house and give her pleasant society again Highbury the large and populous village almost amounting to a town to which Hartfield in spite of its separate lawn and shrubberies and name did really belong afforded her no equals The Woodhouses were first in consequence there All looked up to them She had many acquaintance in the place for her father was universally civil but not one among them who could be accepted in lieu of Miss Taylor for even half a day It was a melancholy change and Emma could not but sigh over it and wish for impossible things till her father awoke and made it necessary to be cheerful His spirits required support He was a nervous man easily depressed fond of every body that he was used to and hating to part with them hating change of every kind Matrimony as the origin of change was always disagreeable and he was by no means yet reconciled to his own daughter s marrying nor could ever speak of her but with compassion though it had been entirely a match of affection when he was now obliged to part with Miss Taylor too and from his habits of gentle selfishness and of being never able to suppose that other people could feel differently from himself he was very much disposed to think Miss Taylor had done as sad a thing for herself as for them and would have been a great deal happier if she had spent all the rest of her life at Hartfield Emma smiled and chatted as cheerfully as she could to keep him from such thoughts but when tea came it was impossible for him not to say exactly as he had said at dinner
