1. The first step in solving a system of linear equations is to write the equations in slope-intercept form. This allows you to easily identify the slope and y-intercept of each line. If the lines have the same slope but different y-intercepts, they are parallel and there is no solution. If the lines have different slopes, they will intersect at one point, which is the solution to the system. If the lines have the same slope and the same y-intercept, they are coincident and there are infinitely many solutions.

2. The second step in solving a system of linear equations is to graph the lines. This allows you to visually see the solution to the system.
