Pedagogical Art in Activist and Curatorial Practices Izabel Galliera, Noni Brynjolson, 2025-06-24 This edited volume highlights the historical philosophical and theoretical legacies of pedagogical art and examines its connections with various forms of activism and institutional transformation. Chapters reveal interconnected concerns related to institutional power structures, systemic racism, sexism, and gender biases in art institutions, exclusionary tactics of neoliberal corporate interests, and the politicization of culture in authoritarian regimes. This volume brings together leading and emerging scholars, curators, and artists who have written case studies from various geographical, cultural, and political contexts. Through a range of different approaches and diverse perspectives, contributors address key debates and conversations on this topic, including the lessons that can be learned from exploring global histories of critical pedagogy, the possibilities and constraints of institutional critique and transformation within museums, universities, and other educational institutions, and the many ways in which contemporary pedagogical art has intersected with art and activism around the world. Through these debates, contributors investigate the potential of pedagogical art as a transformative institutional tool with the potential to activate discursive spaces for generating, sharing, and amplifying knowledge as a powerful form of collective resistance. This book will be of interest to scholars working in art history, art education, and museum studies, among other fields.

Art School Steven Henry Madoff, 2009-09-11 Leading international artists and art educators consider the challenges of art education in today's dramatically changed art world. The last explosive change in art education came nearly a century ago, when the German Bauhaus was formed. Today, dramatic changes in the art world, its increasing professionalization, the pervasive power of the art market, and fundamental shifts in art making itself in our post-Duchampian era, combined with a revolution in information technology, raise fundamental questions about the education of today's artists. Art School: Propositions for the 21st Century brings together more than thirty leading international artists and art educators to reconsider the practices of art education in academic, practical, ethical, and philosophical terms. The essays in the book range over continents, histories, traditions, experiments, and fantasies of education. Accompanying the essays are conversations with such prominent artist educators as John Baldessari, Michael Craig Martin, Hans Haacke, and Marina Abramovic, as well as questionnaire responses from a dozen important artists among them Mike Kelley, Ann Hamilton, Guillermo Kuitca, and Shirin
